FRANCE COPEs WITH PROBLEM OF THE FRANC

MAKE GLOOMY PREDICTIONS ON NEW CABINET

FALL OF CURRENCY AND RISING PRICES ALARM THE NATION

CABINET FROM FIRST DAY TO BE EXPOSED TO HEAVY ATTACKS

By A. L. BRADFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Paris, July 20.—Although Edouard Herriot has selected a cabinet he believes capable of coping with the problem of the franc, gloomy predictions were made throughout France today that his government would be short lived.

Fall of the currency and consequent rising prices have alarmed the nation.

At the opening today the franc was quoted at 230.5 to the pound sterling and 47.40 to the dollar compared to 46.42 to the dollar yesterday. In half an hour the franc had slumped to 47.50 to the dollar and as midday approached one dollar would buy 47.70 francs and the pound sterling would buy 232.

"The cabinet from the first day will be exposed to heavy attacks," the Petite Parisienne declared.

The solid and unsensational Temps sees Herriot's cabinet as doomed to a speedy demise.

La Liberté asks how Herriot will make payments due August 1, unless he permits inflation. The only way to avoid a catastrophe, the newspaper declares, is by calling a new election.

Hoots and jeers greeted Herriot as he went to his former office in the chamber of deputies last night after announcing his cabinet to President Doumergue.

The cabinet, seen as a hurriedly constituted makeshift body, is as follows:

Premier, and minister of foreign affairs, Edouard Herriot.

Minister of justice, Maurice Maurice Colat.

Minister of finance, Anatole de Monzie.

Minister of the interior, Camille Chateaufort.

Minister of war, Paul Painlevé.

Minister of marine, René Renault.

Minister of commerce, Louis Locheur.

Minister of agriculture, Henri Queffelec.

Minister of labor, Louis Pasquet.

Minister of public works, André Hesse.

Minister of public instruction, Edouard Daladier.

Minister of colonies, Adrien Dariae.

Minister of pensions, George Bonnet.

Under secretaries:

Foreign affairs, Albert Milhaud; finance and budget, Paul Jacquier; treasury, Paul Morel; war, Jacques Dumanell; air, Barthélemy Robaglia; liberated regions, Henri Maitre; merchant marine, Andre Mallarme; technical inspection, Gaston Bazile.

LONDON QUOTATIONS ON FRENCH FRANC

London, July 20.—French francs were quoted at 238 to the pound sterling on the Bourse at mid-afternoon today. Belgian francs were quoted at 221, and Italian lire at 153.

DECLINE IN FRENCH FRANC

New York, July 20.—The decline in the French franc and Italian lire continued unabated today and both currencies touched new record lows at the opening of the New York foreign exchange.

Francs lost 11 points overnight to 0203½ while the lire receded 14 points to 0318½ from yesterday's close.

NEW CABINET FAILS TO CHECK FALL OF FRANC

London, July 20.—A new slump in the French franc marked the opening of the foreign exchange today despite the fact that Premier Herriot has formed a cabinet.

Falls occurred also in the value of Belgian and Italian exchange.

The French franc opened at 232.50 to the pound, having closed yesterday at 225.50.

The Belgian franc opened at 214.50. Its Monday close was 210.

SUICIDE LEFT MAP WITH "X" MARKING DEATH

Minneapolis, Minn., July 20.—UP. A map of Lake of the Isles near here with a "X" marking the dock was found today in the bedroom of James E. Allen, 75. It was accompanied by a note explaining that Allen intended to commit suicide.

Relatives notified the police and they dragged the lake, finding the aged man's body at the exact spot he had indicated.

Allen's suicide was one of three attempted here within less than 20 hours. Mrs. Nellie Harding also was successful, after inhaling gas. Authorities ascribed the attempts to the heat.

INDUSTRY ON PROSPERITY WAVE IN UNITED STATES

THE FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD MAKES OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

FARMERS, HOWEVER, ARE FACING RATHER A LEAN YEAR

Washington, July 20.—(UP)—Industry continues forward on a wave of prosperity in the United States, the federal board announced today.

Farmers, however, are facing a rather lean year, with crops reported at eight per cent below the average for the last 10 years and prices slowly declining.

Activity in most lines of industry has continued favorable during the early summer with seasonal declines in a few textiles and leather factories.

Production of building materials has been almost at the boom stage, according to the board.

Commercial and bank failures have declined this year, indicating that the little merchant is profiting by the general trend of good times.

Unseasonable weather hampered the farmers but more favorable conditions the later part of the summer may somewhat offset the earlier losses, the board forecast.

NAVAL BOARD OF INQUIRY PROBING LAKE DENMARK BLAST

Washington, July 20.—(UP)—The naval board of inquiry investigating the Lake Denmark explosion will go to Brooklyn Wednesday and Thursday to hear testimony of Captain O. C. Dowling, post commander, now in the Brooklyn naval hospital. He led the fight against the fire for several hours.

EXPLOSION FOLLOWS BURNING BARN

Paynesville, Minn., July 20.—(UP)—An explosion while he was assisting in extinguishing a fire severely injured Walter Roetz, who was burned about the face and arms. The fire destroyed a barn on the A. F. Blake farm near here.

of two cents today as the nation's distrust of the new Herriot government became apparent on the Bourse. Shortly before 1 P. M. one dollar would buy 49.22 francs and the pound sterling was worth 240.

Par value of the franc is about 20 cents, or approximately five to a dollar.

Crowds gathered outside the big banks today for news of the slumping franc. In the stock exchange occurred one of the most agitated sessions on record with French securities plunging and all foreign securities rising. Everyone possessing francs seemed to be converting them into some foreign holding. It was noticed that there were unusually numerous purchases of small lots of dollars and pounds sterling, which undoubtedly represented the conversion of the small savings of middle class Frenchmen who fear that their money soon will be valueless.

It was apparent that the big French banks were not entering the market to support the franc and it was believed there was not much chance for the franc to recover.

SAYS EVEN HANDED JUSTICE IS NOT GENERAL

J. H. McQUIGG, NATIONAL COMMANDER AMERICAN LEGION, GIVES ADDRESS

SAYS IMPARTIAL ENFORCEMENT OF LAW IS NOT BEING MET IN SOME LOCALITIES

Grand Island, Neb., July 20.—(UP)—One of the cornerstones of our republic—even handed administration of justice and impartial enforcement of law is not being met in some localities of the United States, declared J. H. McQuigg, national commander of the American Legion, in an address at Grand Island last night. It was the commander's third address of the day on his two day tour of Nebraska. He spoke at Lincoln and Hastings before speaking here last night and will go to Fremont and Omaha today.

McQuigg placed full responsibility for law enforcement on the people themselves. He said in this country we have just law enforcement as the majority insist upon having.

In his Hastings address McQuigg said the American Legion advocates adherence of the United States to a permanent court of international justice as a hope for world peace based on justice and square dealing.

He called attention, however, to the strong probability that controversies and quarrels will arise among nations and asserted that the Legion for that reason also advocates maintenance of adequate force for external and internal defense.

UNRELENTING SUN BEATS DOWN UPON MIDDLE WEST

CONTINUES RECORD BREAKING HEAT WAVE OF YESTERDAY

ALMOST SCORE OF DEATHS ATTRIBUTED TO HIGH TEMPERATURE

An unrelenting sun beat down upon the middle west again today continuing the record breaking heat wave of yesterday when almost a score of deaths attributed to the abnormally high temperature were reported.

The hottest place in the United States yesterday was Yuma, Ariz., where the thermometer registered 112. Lisbon, N. D., with 108 degrees and Mitchell, S. D., with 106, followed close behind. It was 101 at Omaha, Neb., and in the hundreds throughout Minnesota, Nebraska, Missouri and southern Illinois. Chicago's record temperature for the summer was reached when the mercury touched 94.

Hot searing winds accompanied the heat wave, burning up corn crops and pastures.

Farmers expressed fear for the corn crop, saying the rainfall had been subnormal for weeks on the central plains.

While the whole country was sweltering, Jay Gould, Minnesota game and fish commissioner, created a sensation by telephoning in to St. Paul where it was 90 degrees in the shade, that 250 miles north of the Twin Cities between Beaver Bay and Split Rock, Minn., snow was falling. Gould reported that the snow fell for 20 minutes, melting as it hit the ground.

St. Paul, Minn., July 20.—The northwest sweltered again today in intense heat, but local thunderstorms and cooler weather were forecast before night. The two-day toll of the heat wave stands at six—three dead in Minnesota, two in South Dakota and one in North Dakota.

Farmers deserted the harvest fields in some parts of Minnesota owing to the heat. A temperature of 106 was reported at Farmington, Minn., and Sioux Falls, S. D., and at Lisbon, N. D., it was 108.

George Judge, night clerk at Mitchell, S. D., fell dead at his post yesterday. The temperature there was 107. Joseph Black died of heart disease at Hastings, Minn., where the thermometer reached 104 during the day. These were the only new deaths.

FOREST FLAMES IN CALIFORNIA FOUGHT BY 2,000

VAINLY SEEK TO CONTROL FIERY AREA SEETHING LIKE FURNACE

WEATHER BUREAU ANTICIPATES NO RELIEF FROM HAZARDOUS CONDITIONS

San Francisco, July 20.—(UP)—While half exhausted fire crews, estimated to total more than 2,000 men, today continued their efforts to stop the spread of forest flames, district weather bureau headquarters saw no relief from hazardous conditions.

Northerly winds which checked the progress of the fire crews through last night will continue today.

Raging in half a dozen counties razing timber lands near five national forests and leaving a smoke wake through hundreds of acres of forest lands, forest and brush fires which were fanned into activity by the hot dry winds of last week end had up to today exacted a staggering total.

Quartz, a historic mining town, was virtually destroyed. Stenton, a neighboring town, had been partially destroyed. Residents of Standard City, were reported fleeing with their possessions and the town was not yet out of danger.

More than 100,000 acres have been burned over.

EVIDENCE ON KIDNAPING GIVEN TO GRAND JURY

SHEAF OF AFFIDAVITS READ IN EVANGELIST McPHERSON CASE

JURORS TO VOTE SOON ON WHETHER EVIDENCE WARRANTS INDICTMENT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 20.—(UP)—After weeks of investigating, District Attorney Asa Keyes presented his evidence to a grand jury in the case of Almee Semple McPherson's self described kidnapping.

After reading a sheaf of affidavits and hearing one last witness, the jurors were to vote on whether the evidence warrants indictments against the kidnappers, known or unknown to Mrs. McPherson.

Failure to vote an indictment may be construed as an indication the jury has failed to gather enough evidence to substantiate the evangelist's story, it was said.

GRAND JURY TO HEAR STORY OF SHOOTING

FIRST WITNESS CALLED BELIEVED ONLY ONE TO SEE SHOOTING

Fort Worth, Tex., July 20.—(UP)—A county grand jury today heard the story of the fatal shooting of D. E. Chipps, lumberman, by Dr. J. Frank Norris, dynamic pastor of the First Baptist church.

L. H. Nutt, bank auditor and deacon in the church, was the first witness called to the grand jury room.

Nutt was sitting in the study room when Chipps entered and heard the argument that preceded the shooting. He is believed to be the only eye witness to the event. Several other witnesses will be called today and tomorrow others have been subpoenaed to testify.

While the grand jury probe was going on police were searching for the "mystery man," who is said to have entered the pastor's study with Chipps and who stood there while Chipps and the pastor argued. Police said the man fled immediately following the shooting.

POLITICIANS WATCH CORN BELT CONFERENCE

GETS UNDER WAY AT DES MOINES, IOWA, TODAY

DELEGATES FROM 11 MIDWEST STATES IN ATTENDANCE

Des Moines, Iowa, July 20.—(UP)—While Washington politicians looked on anxiously, the second large corn belt conference of the year got under way at Des Moines today. Delegates from 11 midwest states were in attendance. The agricultural committee of 22 under the leadership of George N. Peek of Moline, Ill., went into session this morning. It is from this meeting that the farmers' Washington program for next year will be evolved.

Leaders in touch with the farm movement predicted that also out of the session would come the formal placing of former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois in the race for president. Feeling against the present administration seems to be running high among most of the farmer delegates and talk of the Lowden boom is held in all quarters.

The "conference of 22" was thought likely to mention specifically in resolution the defeat of the McNeill-Haugen farm relief measure and "to place the blame where it belongs."

The resolutions are expected to contain farm relief legislation similar to the defeated bill and to plan definitely outlines of such proposals to be presented at the next congress.

NET THROWN OUT BY SLATER MAY CATCH SLAYER

CANTON, OHIO, SEEKS KILLERS OF DON R. MELLETT, NEWSPAPER PUBLISHER

ALIBI OF PSILLAS IS BELIEVED BROKEN BY NEW FINDINGS

Canton, O., July 20.—(UP)—The net thrown out by Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective, in charge of the investigation, was believed closing today on the killers of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News. Detective Peter Conner, of Pittsburgh, after a hurried trip to Warren, O., where "George the Greek" Psillas, arrested yesterday, told authorities he had been at the time of the murder, was on his way back to Pittsburgh to block habeas corpus proceedings.

Psillas' alibi was believed broken by Conner's findings. The Greek told police he had gone to Warren with a friend, he had gone to the Lincoln hotel, visited a number of friends and retired at midnight, he said. Conner discovered Psillas had not parked his automobile in a garage at Warren until 1 A. M. Friday. Mellett was shot down at Canton about 12:15 A. M.

He further found the Greek had not visited some of the places where he said he had been in Warren on the night of the shooting.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 20.—Habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release from jail of George the Greek Psillas, held here in connection with the slaying of Don Mellett, were filed today by his attorney, Samuel Rosenberg. It is claimed that Psillas is detained unlawfully and unjustly. A hearing on the petition will be held tomorrow.

Authorities have admitted that they have little evidence to prove that Psillas was in Canton the night of the murder of Mellett, newspaper publisher.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 20.—John D. Cleary, head of a Columbus detective agency, was summoned today by Governor Donahey of Ohio to join the investigation of the Mellett murder in Canton.

BELT CONFERENCEGETS UNDER WAY AT DES MOINES, IOWA,
TODAYDELEGATES FROM 11 MIDWEST
STATES IN ATTEND-ANCE

Des Moines, Iowa, July 20.—(UP)—While Washington politicians looked on anxiously, the second large corn belt conference of the year got under way at Des Moines today. Delegates from 11 midwest states were in attendance. The agricultural committee of 22 under the leadership of George N. Peek of Moline, Ill., went into session this morning. It is from this meeting that the farmers' Washington program for next year will be evolved.

Leaders in touch with the farm movement predicted that also out of the session would come the formal placing of former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois in the race for president. Feeling against the present administration seems to be running high among most of the farmer delegates and talk of the Lowden boom is held in all quarters.

The "conference of 22" was thought likely to mention specifically in resolution the defeat of the McNeil-Haugen farm relief measure and "to place the blame where it belongs."

The resolutions are expected to contain farm relief legislation similar to the defeated bill and to plan definitely outlines of such proposals to be presented at the next congress.

WHETHER EVIDENCE WAR-

Los Angeles, Cal., July 20.—(UP)—After weeks of investigating, District Attorney Asa Keyes presented his evidence to a grand jury in the case of Almee Semple McPherson's self described kidnapping.

After reading a sheaf of affidavits and hearing one last witness, the jurors were to vote on whether the evidence warrants indictments against the kidnappers, known or unknown of Mrs. McPherson.

Failure to vote an indictment may be construed as an indication the jury has failed to gather enough evidence to substantiate the evangelist's story, it was said.

NET THROWN OUT BY SLATER
MAY CATCH SLAYERCANTON, OHIO, SEEKS KILLERS
OF DON R. MELLETT, NEWS-
PAPER PUBLISHERALIBI OF PSILLAS IS BELIEVED BROKEN BY NEW FINDINGS

Canton, O., July 20.—(UP)—The net thrown out by Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective, in charge of the investigation, was believed closing today on the killers of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News. Detective Peter Conner, of Pittsburgh, after a hurried trip to Warren, O., where "George the Greek" Psillas, arrested yesterday, told authorities he had been at the time of the murder, was on his way back to Pittsburgh to block habeas corpus proceedings.

Psillas' alibi was believed broken by Conner's findings. The Greek told police he had gone to Warren with a friend, he had gone to the Lincoln hotel, visited a number of friends and retired at midnight, he said. Conner discovered Psillas had not parked his automobile in a garage at Warren until 1 A. M. Friday. Mellett was shot down at Canton about 12:15 A. M.

He further found the Greek had not visited some of the places where he said he had been in Warren on the night of the shooting.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 20.—Habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release from jail of George the Greek Psillas, held here in connection with the slaying of Don Mellett, were filed today by his attorney, Samuel Rosenberg. It is claimed that Psillas is detained unlawfully and unjustly. A hearing on the petition will be held tomorrow.

Authorities have admitted that they have little evidence to prove that Psillas was in Canton the night of the murder of Mellett, newspaper publisher.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 20.—John D. Cleary, head of a Columbus detective agency, was summoned today by Governor Donahey of Ohio to join the investigation of the Mellett murder in Canton.

Cleary was engaged in work of the international secret service here. Governor Donahey telegraphed Cleary to meet him in Philadelphia.

Washington, July 20.—Federal narcotic agents have been ordered to Canton, O., to investigate dope peddling as an aftermath of the assassination of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News.

Canton, O., July 20.—Conflicting reports on progress of the hunt for assassins of Don R. Mellett, publisher of the Canton Daily News brought doubts today after hopes of early solution had been raised by the arrest of "George the Greek" Psillas, near Pittsburgh yesterday.

"We are through questioning underworld suspects of Canton and we admit we are up against a stone wall," Chief of Police S. A. Lengle said. "We talked to Jumbo Crowley late yesterday and I am convinced he had nothing to do with the Mellett slayer or that he knows who did."

Ora Slater, Cincinnati detective in charge of the county investigation, however, did not seem so certain the Canton underworld could be disregarded in future activities. After a two hours' conference with County Prosecutor C. B. McClintock, Slater said officers working with him would devote their entire time to running down clues uncovered here.

Traffic was tied up for blocks around and an early check of the injured was impossible.

2 DRUNKEN OFFICERS

4 PEOPLE IN MUSKOGEE

Muskogee, Okla., July 20.—(UP)—Five persons were shot and four others clubbed into unconsciousness early today when two officers said to be drunk, terrorized inmates of three rooming houses while making raids.

The two officers, Paul Davis, a deputy sheriff, and Ves Charnack, a city detective, were overpowered after they had fired more than 30 shots and resorted to clubbings and other violence.

Four of those shot are in a serious condition and physicians say that Paul Davis, who was wounded before being captured, will not live. One woman was shot but her injuries are not serious.

Cincinnati will be the next convention city.

BEEHIVE FAMILY POPULAR

Trapeze and Ring Swinging Daring, Animal Show Very Interesting

A packed house greeted last night's performance of the circus which is being given for the benefit of the Brainerd Fire Department, on the corner of Sixth and Oak streets. Cars were lined up on both sides and every available seat in the tent was taken.

One of the most popular of the acts was that which was given by the Beehive family, four in number, consisting of a small lad about four years old, two boys about 15 and a man, who by their daring took away the breath of many. Their special features were trapeze and ring swinging. The Lindbergs, hand and head balancers were also featured in the main show.

Mr. Riley was in charge of the animals and they performed splendidly under his supervision. The ponies were especially appreciated as were the five dogs who gave a very spirited performance. The ponies went through a routine of tricks and performed stunts new and old to the circus enthusiasts and then the ponies together with the trained dogs were seen in other tricks that were very appealing, especially to the younger of the audience.

A performance was given this afternoon and another hour and half of entertainment is scheduled for this evening.

Dr. and Mrs. A. K. Cohen returned Monday morning from Chicago where they, with 250,000 others, attended the Elks national convention, Chas. Grakelov of Philadelphia was elected to head the Elks for the coming year. There was strong rivalry between Miami, Florida, and Cincinnati, Ohio, who both put in strong bids to be the convention city for next year. The Miamians presented a tempting offer of a free trip to Cuba, but Cincinnati had the last and quelling line when in a short, spirited speech the representative ended "and we have nothing to sell you." Cincinnati will be the next convention city.

BEEHIVE FAMILY POPULAR

Trapeze and Ring Swinging Daring, Animal Show Very Interesting

A packed house greeted last night's performance of the circus which is being given for the benefit of the Brainerd Fire Department, on the corner of Sixth and Oak streets. Cars were lined up on both sides and every available seat in the tent was taken.

One of the most popular of the acts was that which was given by the Beehive family, four in number, consisting of a small lad about four years old, two boys about 15 and a man, who by their daring took away the breath of many. Their special features were trapeze and ring swinging. The Lindbergs, hand and head balancers were also featured in the main show.

Mr. Riley was in charge of the animals and they performed splendidly under his supervision. The ponies were especially appreciated as were the five dogs who gave a very spirited performance. The ponies went through a routine of tricks and performed stunts new and old to the circus enthusiasts and then the ponies together with the trained dogs were seen in other tricks that were very appealing, especially to the younger of the audience.

A performance was given this afternoon and another hour and half of entertainment is scheduled for this evening.

FIND READY MARKET FOR FAMILY TREES

English Peddlers Deal With Rich Americans.

Pedigree peddlers in England are said to be reaping a rich harvest from ambitious but credulous Americans of wealth. To them it is always open season on Yankees who wish to have the English branches of their family trees looked up.

It may not be possible to get a title for oneself but if one has money enough one can acquire at least a choice collection of titled ancestors. And if one has no objection to bars sinister in one's coat-of-arms, a king or two might be thrown in for an extra consideration. Just leave it to the pedigree peddler.

Of course there is a remote danger that the pedigree peddler will get caught while he is probing into your ancestry. In that event, if he is convicted, another must be engaged to go on with the research. One will do as well as another.

The pedigree peddlers have different methods of operation. If you engage one pedigree artist you may be handed an altogether different ancestry than if you engaged another. But if the pedigree peddler is clever, you will find it all down in black and white in the official records, if you feel inclined to check up. The ink in which your ancestors' names have been inscribed may appear a bit lighter than other entries, but time will remedy that.

Considering the results they obtain, and the bank balances of their victims, the pedigree peddlers are modest in their charges. The fee varies according to conditions—the importance of the title of the questionable ancestor; the risk incurred during the "research," and the eagerness of the client to acquire a pedigree.

Tracing a pedigree as a rule, however, is expensive. The bill for one is said to have come to $3,750. Charges between $1,000 and $2,500 are common, according to Tit-Bits. But bogus pedigrees sometimes can be obtained for as little as $50, when the client is not a stickler for authentication.

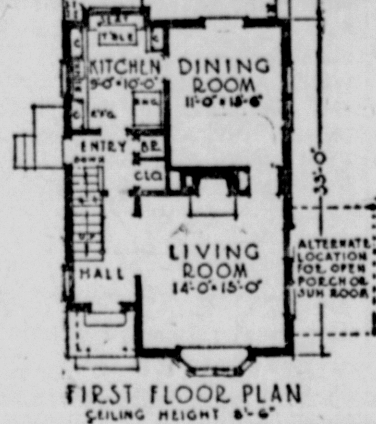

The pedigree peddler explains why he can spend so much time searching old records for so small a fee in his first unsolicited letter to his victim. He writes he stumbled across the victim's name while looking up the family tree of some well-known person, and that he is willing to sell a copy of it cheaply, as it is of no use to him.

Another scheme is to gain access to the vital records of some obscure parish and to write in the name of a mythical ancestor while no one is looking. One pedigree peddler, when asked to explain why the entry appeared to have been made recently, explained:

"Yes, that is due to the carbonic acid in my breath. The British museum uses a mixture containing carbonic acid for that purpose."

Home-Builder Gets Good Investment Plus Comfort

FIRST FLOOR PLAN
CEILING HEIGHT 8'-6"

ECONOMY of space in this five-room English town house has not meant a sacrifice of artistic exterior. Although measuring only twenty-two feet across, without the porch, it has none of the cramped appearance of the usual dwelling designed to go on a thirty-foot lot. Where the need for contraction is not so great, the open porch or sunroom can be placed opening off the side of the living room instead of the back.

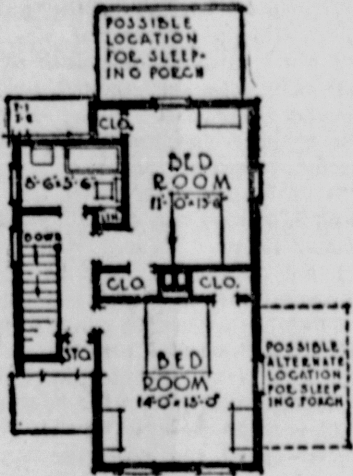

It may be built either of variegated or common brick left plain or whitewashed. The high pitched roof is of stained shingles or slate. An interesting contrast is effected in the weathered board shutters and the trim of the unique bay window in front.

The sheltered loggia has a pleasingly arched entrance duplicated in the main doorway. The floor is of red brick.

Within, a number of features provide for exceptional comfort and convenience. The hall gives access to the stairway, kitchen and living room with equal ease. A closet for wraps, tennis rackets and the like, will be found unfailingly useful as will the second floor, but a sleeping porch can be built over the sunroom at very little additional expense. This is particularly serviceable in a family where there are several children. Three clothes closets, a linen closet in the bathroom and storage space off the hall should please the woman who wants plenty of places to keep things.

So compact and well-built a house as this, will be found very easy to heat. A marked economy will be found in its insulation, walls and roof being sheathed with celotex as a protection against cold and waste of fuel in the winter, and in summer keeping back the hot rays of the sun. Notice also the lower ventilator placed in the gable in front, to better keep the attic from getting hot. The floors are hardwood throughout and have a layer of celotex placed between them to deaden noises within the house, a feature that is appreciated where there are small children and noisy boys in the home.

SECOND FLOOR PLAN
CEILING HEIGHT 8'-6"

1827, when an old craft was sent over with a bear, a fox, a buffalo, a dog and some geese as passengers. The bear jumped from the boat before it reached the rapids, swam to the shore and was rescued. The geese went over the falls and came to the shore below alive, while the other animals were not seen.

Another vessel, the Detroit, that had belonged to Commodore Perry's fleet, was started over the cataract in the winter of 1841, but grounded midway in the rapids and was finally broken up by the ice.

In 1837 a burning vessel was sent down the rapids and over the falls. This was described as a most magnificent sight.

Ice Age May Return

There is no way of telling whether the ice age, so called, will return or what changes in the climate will occur in the future. It is known that the ice sheet invaded the northern part of the United States four or five times, and between these several invasions there were long intervals, during which the climate was as mild as now, and in some cases milder than it is at present. It is also known that the length of each of these interglacial stages was longer than the time which had elapsed since the appearance of the last ice sheet. From this it may be inferred that it is quite possible, at least, that another advance of the great ice sheet may occur.

The Right Thing!

Do you know why we shake hands?

Hoists Lift Stone Horses

With modern hoisting equipment ponderous steel beams, heavy safes and other large objects are raised with comparative ease, but in placing the huge stone horses on the palace of justice in Rome several unusual difficulties were encountered, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. To protect the sculptures from damage, chains were tied about the horses' feet so that the statues could be swung away from the walls and prevent damage. The irregular shape of the load made it hard to balance, and the placing had to be done around and through a network of specially designed scaffolding.

Couldn't Read It

An African houseboy, having saved a little money, visited an optician. He tried on pair after pair of glasses, but each time stated that he could not read the test letters. At last, in despair, the optician asked him if he'd ever been taught to read.

"No, boss," was the reply. "I have never had the money till now to buy glasses to read."

And it took the optician quite a little while to convince him that glasses alone would not have the desired effect.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Order of Odd Fellows

The first lodge of the Order of Odd Fellows in America was founded in Baltimore 107 years ago.

The organizers were members of the Manchester Unity of Odd Fellows, an English fraternal order dating from 1745, and reorganizing under the present constitution in 1812. The affiliation of the American branch with a parent body was later broken off, though there are still members of the Manchester United in the United States and Canada.

He writes he stumbled across the victim's name while looking up the family tree of some well-known person, and that he is willing to sell a copy of it cheaply, as it is of no use to him.

Another scheme is to gain access to the vital records of some obscure parish and to write in the name of a mythical ancestor while no one is looking. One pedigree peddler, when asked to explain why the entry appeared to have been made recently, explained:

"Yes, that is due to the carbonic acid in my breath. The British museum uses a mixture containing carbonic acid for that purpose."

The need for contraction is not so great, the open porch or sunroom can be placed opening off the side of the living room instead of the back.

It may be built either of variegated or common brick left plain or whitewashed. The high pitched roof is of stained shingles or slate. An interesting contrast is effected in the weathered board shutters and the trim of the unique bay window in front.

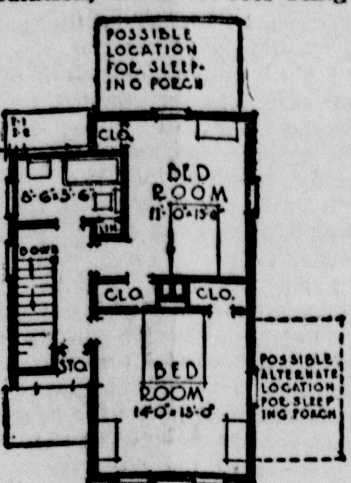

The sheltered loggia has a pleasingly arched entrance duplicated in the main doorway. The floor is of red brick.

Within, a number of features provide for exceptional comfort and convenience. The hall gives access to the stairway, kitchen and living room with equal ease. A closet for wraps, tennis racquets and the like, will be found unfailingly useful as will the ECONOMY of space in this five-room English town house has not meant a sacrifice of artistic exterior. Although measuring only twenty-two feet across, without the porch, it has none of the cramped appearance of the usual dwelling designed to go on a thirty-foot lot. Where the second floor, but a sleeping porch can be built over the sunroom at very little additional expense. This is particularly serviceable in a family where there are several children. Three clothes closets, a linen closet in the bathroom and storage space off the hall should please the woman who wants plenty of places to keep things.

So compact and well-built a house as this, will be found very easy to heat. A marked economy will be found in its insulation, walls and roof being sheathed with celotex as a protection against cold and waste of fuel in the winter, and in summer keeping back the hot rays of the sun. Notice also the lower ventilator placed in the gable in front, to better keep the attic from getting hot. The floors are hardwood throughout and have a layer of celotex placed between them to deaden noises within the house, a feature that is appreciated where there are small children and noisy boys in the home.

In early days man lived alone save for his woman back in the cave. He fought the wild animals alone and dragged home his loot alone. Men warred on one another for the most part. When primitive man was too weary to fight he would drop his club upon meeting another man in his path and hold out his empty hand to show that he was unarmed. And the extended hand warmed into the handshake, then the handshake.

Today's form says that a person coming into a group does not offer to shake hands. It is up to the members of the group to make him welcome by offering the hand, if they care to.

Ice Age May Return

There is no way of telling whether the Ice age, so called, will return or what changes in the climate will occur in the future. It is known that the ice sheet invaded the northern part of the United States four or five times, and between these several invasions there were long intervals, during which the climate was as mild as now, and in some cases milder than it is at present. It is also known that the length of each of these interglacial stages was longer than the time which had elapsed since the appearance of the last ice sheet. From this it may be inferred that it is quite possible, at least, that another advance of the great ice sheet may occur.

Hoists Lift Stone Horses

With modern hoisting equipment ponderous steel beams, heavy safes and other large objects are raised with comparative ease, but in placing the huge stone horses on the palace of justice in Rome several unusual difficulties were encountered, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. To protect the sculptures from damage, chains were tied about the horses' feet so that the statues could be swung away from the walls and prevent damage. The irregular shape of the load made it hard to balance, and the placing had to be done around and through a network of specially designed scaffolding.

Couldn't Read It

An African houseboy, having saved a little money, visited an optician. He tried on pair after pair of glasses, but each time stated that he could not read the test letters. At last, in despair, the optician asked him if he'd ever been taught to read.

"No, boss," was the reply. "I have never had the money till now to buy glasses to read."

And it took the optician quite a little while to convince him that glasses alone would not have the desired effect.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Order of Odd Fellows

The first lodge of the Order of Odd Fellows in America was founded in Baltimore 107 years ago.

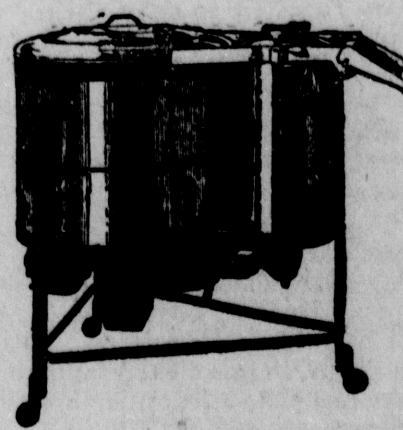

The organizers were members of the Manchester Unity of Odd Fellows, an English fraternal order dating from 1745, and reorganizing under the present constitution in 1812. The affiliation of the American branch with a parent body was later broken off, though there are still members of the Manchester United in the United States and Canada.

THE FALL OF THE FRANC

The fall of the franc is disturbing the whole French nation. Interested neighbors are watching its fluctuations and are affected by the gyrations of French currency. Another sensational collapse in the franc took place yesterday and today further drops are being recorded.

The currency of any nation reflects the actual condition of a nation. American currency is at par wherever the American dollar migrates. Weakness of the currency in France reflects in large measure the trouble experienced by the French nation in debt funding and budget making and balancing.

The new Herriot regime is in power today, but even the French themselves, as reported by the United Press, are of the opinion that it will be a shortlived cabinet.

Italy and Belgium are also experiencing all the sensations accompanying a fluctuating currency and the opinion has been broached in some quarters that what is required to cope with the situation is a dictator in financial matters. However, when Cailiaux asked for such powers he was accorded short shrift.

The United States may consider itself extremely fortunate in having at the head of governmental financial affairs such a man as Andrew Mellon. Mr. Mellon has reduced the national debt, has been instrumental in reduction of taxes and his method has been effective in stopping the flow of money to tax-exempt government securities and diverting that same flow back to the channels of trade and manufacture, thus insuring more employment for the workers and corresponding activity in all lines of business.

The work of Andrew Mellon will not be appreciated until years later when historians will be able to weigh clearly and impartially the work of this man. He has been the Alexander Hamilton of these modern days, facing huger problems than his prototype of the dawn of the republic.

"WHEN EVERYTHING IS LOVELY"

"When everything is lovely", as colloquially expressed, any business or enterprise seems to be running on an even keel and of its own momentum. There may be a man on the bridge, stokers in the hold, sailors on deck, but the average passenger thinks the craft just runs itself.

Let a storm arise, let the breakers reveal shoals of trouble, then all hands keep their eyes on the captain. He is the man to make the decisions and make them quickly to save the ship and passengers.

Just so in many a business. When it runs smoothly and makes money, everybody wants credit for the direction of the same. If a snag is hit and trouble ensues, there is a ducking of many heads to avoid responsibility. It is then the executive shoulders the burden and hustles the ship on its course.

Politics is the same thing. When the party gets along nicely, people are satisfied with the party in power, the President gets little if any credit for his direction of affairs. But should a crisis arise, should there be difficulties, then every move of the President is watched and as party leader he comes in for the bulk of the criticism.

GUNMAN ASSASSINATION

WHEN Assistant State's Attorney McSwiggin of Illinois fell a victim to a hail of machine gun bullets, when Don Mellett, editor and publisher of the Canton Daily News, was shot down by a rain of bullets, it marked the era of gunman assassination.

Here and there, in reading of other slaying in large cities, crops out the dread supposition that men exist who make it a business to kill. Beer gangs, vice gangs, narcotic gangs, as one reads the papers, appear to have a strong arm force whose business it is to shoot and kill.

It is time the sovereign state, of Illinois as well as the commonwealth of Ohio tracked down malefactors and put an end to this gunman assassination. If there are "higher ups" directing the path of these bullets, they should be made to suffer as well as the men who do the actual killing.

China gave us a taste of tong warfare. Italy has its old world feuds, germs of which are carried to this country and flourish in hotbeds of vice. It is time that America stamped out its fires of hate and murder exemplified in gang warfare.

CHARLES J. MOOS

CHARLES J. MOOS is a St. Cloud boy who made good as a contractor in concrete highway construction, then entered the political field in St. Paul and was made postmaster there. Into that job he carried the same penchant for business principles, carefulness for detail, etc., which marked him in private ventures. St. Paul thinks he is a good postmaster and so do all the men working for him.

Yesterday postal clerks and letter carriers of St. Paul traveled en masse to St. Cloud, and appeared in the parade of the State Federation of Postoffice Clerks and the State Association of Letter Carriers.

It was a testimonial to Charles J. Moos, and they clearly showed his home town that they thought well of him as a postmaster.

KINGS are but human. The days when some sort of divinity hedged in royalty appears going. In other words, democracy is trimming the hedge, and cutting into the so-called divine rights of kings. The other day the king and queen of England entertained the king and queen of Spain. As proof of the importance of the occasion the Britishers took from the royal cupboard one of their best gold services. That's just like the people here at home, who use the best china when company stops for dinner.

WE notice with pleasure a new sign at the entrance of the Tourist Park. It designates the park correctly and does away with the early misnomer of "Visitors Park". The latter always was confusing. The only time people are guests of the city is in formal affairs, like when the keys of the city were figuratively handed to the mayor of the City of Winnipeg.

WHEN something detrimental in the weather line occurs in northern Minnesota you do not find anyone claiming it's Arrowhead country. As a matter of odd news, snowflakes in July weather gets a mention, but no tourist cares to breast such a chill proposition.

Indians Used Wampum

as General Currency

As is generally known, wampum was a sort of Indian money or means of exchange among tribes encountered by the early colonists along the Atlantic seaboard, and for a considerable distance inland. R. W. Thorp writes, in Adventure Magazine. The term itself is derived from an Algonquin word and referred to small shell beads of two kinds or descriptions, the difference in the two lying in the color, one sort being white and the other violet. The violet beads were nearly always referred to as black wampum by historians. They were all made in a cylindrical form, averaging about one-eighth of an inch in diameter and one-fourth inch in length. Most of these beads were bored in the center and placed upon strings, some of which were afterward woven into bracelets, girdles and the like, and passed among the savages the same as gold and silver among the civilized peoples. Very little wampum was carried in its loose form, the single strings being about the smallest unit of value, and that, according to length, as a matter of course. The black sort was the most valuable, and was worth, according to measure, ten shillings per fathom; while the white was worth only half that sum, probably owing to the fact that the former was made from a certain grade of shell, while the latter was a product made from various shells.

The bracelets were next highest in value above the single strings and were made about nine inches long, woven in stripes of black and white, six pieces in a row, the warp consisting of leather thongs and the woof of thread. The bracelets were generally worn by the squaws, wrapped twice or three times about the wrist.

The finest of the wampum, and highest in value, was woven into girdles. These girdles were of two sorts. One kind was about a yard in length, with fourteen strings in a row, woven into black and white squares, continued obliquely from edge to edge. The other was more complicated, consisting of fifteen strings in a row woven into black diamond squares and crosses within them, the spaces between being filled with white. When not worn as the richest ornament of the possessor, the girdles were used in large payments or as a treasured present or gift on auspicious occasions.

Known and Found Wanting

Irvin S. Cobb, the humorous writer, and lecturer, was praising women novelists—Sarah G. Millin and the author of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden" and Susan Glaspell.

"How those women know us men," he said, "and how they despise us! Elizabeth especially despises us. Her works make me think of a story."

"Mrs. Blank and her daughter, on a visit to Palm Beach, were returning to their rooms after tea in the Coconut grove."

"I wonder," said the daughter, "if papa has got back from his golf yet?" "Mrs. Blank laughed—a hard, metallic laugh."

"Hum a jazz tune," she said, "and spray a little Eau de Venus in the air, and your father, if he's within a mile of us, will stick his head out of his bedroom door to flirt with the chambermaid."

Jimmy Got a Bargain

Jimmy is a little urchin who often comes into the chain store where I work, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. He seems always hungry, and is continually prying candy and other dainties displayed on the counters, but frequently he has no money with which to buy anything, which has gotten me into the habit of answering him carelessly and at random.

The other afternoon, on his way home from school he came in and, rubbing his dirty fingers against a glass jar of fine big chocolates standing on the counter, he asked: "How many of these for a nickel?"

"O, two or three," I replied unthinkingly.

"All right," said Jimmy, producing his nickel, "give me three."

The New Moralists

William Lyon Phelps, the noted critic, said at a reception in New Haven:

"Our new school of psychoanalytic novelists champion everybody except the virtuous and hard-working. The bad, according to these fan-followers, are better than the good."

"Their reasoning reminds me of an anecdote. A chap fell on the back of his head. When he got up he growled: 'I think a full-grown man who throws a banana skin on the pavement is a skunk.'"

"Ah," said another chap, "but what do you think of a banana skin that throws a full-grown man on the pavement?"

Keeps Tab on Autos

Albert Lynn, whose hobby is counting automobiles that pass his home at Berwick, Pa., expects this year to pass the 1,000,000 mark. He began counting in 1913, and all his spare time has since been devoted to that work, with the result that he is now well past the 800,000 mark. In 1924 he put into use a specially made counting device. With this, the first 100,000 was completed in 251 hours of counting time, the second block of 100,000 in 215 hours and 40 minutes, the third in 209 hours and 15 minutes, and the fourth 100,000 in 190 hours and 30 minutes. Traffic passing his home in both directions is counted, but motorcycles are not included.

THE CLOUDED LEOPARD

"I am not going to be friendly with anyone," growled the Clouded Leopard. "I am not friendly by nature and I have no wish to change my nature."

"I don't like people and I don't care if they don't like me."

"It makes absolutely no difference to me at all."

"Oh, all right," said the Jungle Cat, snarling, "I don't believe anyone wants to be friendly with you."

"I am sure they don't."

"Besides I am not so very friendly myself."

"I like to eat when mealtime comes, sleep when it is sleeping time, and take naps whenever I feel like it."

"At all other times I like to think of how stealthy I am when I am free. Ah, what adventures I have had, and how clever and crafty I have been."

"From where do you come?" asked the Clouded Leopard in rather a bored voice.

"I come from the jungles, but in regions where people live so far away."

"How about you?"

"I was going to talk about myself," said the Clouded Leopard, "for after all there is nothing so interesting."

"Depends entirely on the point of view," said the Jungle Cat.

"I know nothing of points of view and care less for them," said the Clouded Leopard.

"I suppose you mean the opinions which different people have."

"Well to continue about the interesting Clouded Leopard," said the Clouded Leopard, "I can climb trees."

"I am that rare type of leopard known as the tree-climbing leopard."

"I live in the jungles when I am free—where it is warm I prefer it."

"I have beautiful markings, lovely patches as you can see for yourself. They make me handsome."

"I've heard the children don't always like to have patches—perhaps because they have to be sewed onto their suits and dresses—but I love patches—my nice, handsome patches of fur."

"In fact I once heard one of the Fairies, who was paying a visit here, talking to an Old Patch creature who said how his children were never welcomed by other children and never were wanted even though they always did take them along with them once they attached themselves."

"Oh no, Old Patch creature certainly said his children were not much loved."

"But that is why they have called me the Clouded Leopard, because I look cloudy with my beautiful colors and the strange arrangement of the patches.

"Still, I am very delicate. I won't live in the zoo unless they take the most perfect care of me."

"They give me this dimly-lighted cage because it reminds me of the dark jungles from where I have come."

"Ah, if I were back there I would do some fine hunting and killing and my long teeth would be helpful."

"Have you taken a good look, a really good look, at my long teeth?" But the Jungle Cat had gone to sleep, so the Clouded Leopard talked on to himself, but he did not mind, for he did not care for a single creature except himself.

That was the way he felt and he acted accordingly.

Picture of Wrong Dog

Grace was in the first grade. She had been boasting of her prowess with the primer and at last her uncle took the book, pointed to a page whereon a dog was pictured, and asked her to read. Glibly she rattled off a succession of short sentences.

"Why, Grace," her uncle interrupted, "there isn't a word of that printed here."

After looking closely at the page, Grace turned to her uncle and replied: "Why, of course not, Uncle Tom, that's the picture of the wrong dog."

Hand-Painted Scarf Nothing

"My mamma's got a nice new scarf," said little Hazel.

"Well, what of that?" replied Dorothy. "My mamma's got a half-dozen scarfs."

"Yes, but my mamma's scarf is hand painted," said Hazel.

"Oh, gee, that's nothin'!" rejoined Dorothy, "our whole house is."

Why No Cost

Mary Jane, eight, said to her mother as they were about to go into a restaurant for lunch, "Mother, we won't have to pay in this restaurant because on the window it says: 'Ladies invited.'"

July 19, 1901

Miss Kate Whiteley has gone to North Dakota where she will teach in a summer training school.

Will S. Koop has gone to Duluth where he will join a party of friends who go to Buffalo to take in the Pan American exposition.

Rev. J. C. Huntington formerly of the First Congregational church of this city is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Losey.

John Chulow today accepted a position as brakeman on the Minnesota and International.

Commissioner Paine accompanied Sheriff Erickson to Stillwater with James Knapp.

There was an incipient strike at the mills of the Brainerd Lumber company night before last when about 15 of the green wood piers walked out and refused to go to work, until what they considered as a grievance would be settled. The heat of the past week has had as much to do with the dissatisfaction as anything else, although the men asked for a higher scale. The difference was easily settled and the men are all at work again.

Herman Jamieson left today for Seattle. He will sail in a few days for Dawson, Alaska where he is to join his father Charles Jamieson, who is keeping a hotel there.

Alderman, Miss Winnie Smith, Miss Grace Low and Mrs. Chipperfield will comprise the party. Mr. Chipperfield is expected in the city by Sunday and he will also be with the party for two weeks.

Bert Fynn returned from Long Lake last night. The party which he was with at the lake will break up today and tomorrow and those who made up the party will return to their homes in this city. The company was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy, Miss Lizzie Willis, Miss Clara Paine, Miss Nora Theviot, Miss Bessie Spalding and Messrs. Hiram More, James Nolan and Bert Fynn.

She will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Alderman at Gull Lake for a week or two. Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Alderman, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Alderman, Miss Winnie Smith, Miss Grace Low and Mrs. Chipperfield will comprise the party. Mr. Chipperfield is expected in the city by Sunday and he will also be with the party for two weeks.

Bert Fynn returned from Long Lake last night. The party which he was with at the lake will break up today and tomorrow and those who made up the party will return to their homes in this city. The company was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy, Miss Lizzie Willis, Miss Clara Paine, Miss Nora Theviot, Miss Bessie Spalding and Messrs. Hiram More, James Nolan and Bert Fynn.

THE FALL OF THE FRANC

The fall of the franc is disturbing the whole French nation. Interested neighbors are watching its fluctuations and are affected by the gyrations of French currency. Another sensational collapse in the franc took place yesterday and today further drops are being recorded.

The currency of any nation reflects the actual condition of a nation. American currency is at par wherever the American dollar migrates. Weakness of the currency in France reflects in large measure the trouble experienced by the French nation in debt funding and budget making and balancing.

The new Herriot regime is in power today, but even the French themselves, as reported by the United Press, are of the opinion that it will be a shortlived cabinet.

Italy and Belgium are also experiencing all the sensations accompanying a fluctuating currency and the opinion has been broached in some quarters that what is required to cope with the situation is a dictator in financial matters. However, when Cailiaux asked for such powers he was accorded short shrift.

The United States may consider itself extremely fortunate in having at the head of governmental financial affairs such a man as Andrew Mellon. Mr. Mellon has reduced the national debt, has been instrumental in reduction of taxes and his method has been effective in stopping the flow of money to tax-exempt government securities and diverting that same flow back to the channels of trade and manufacture, thus insuring more employment for the workers and corresponding activity in all lines of business.

The work of Andrew Mellon will not be appreciated until years later when historians will be able to weigh clearly and impartially the work of this man. He has been the Alexander Hamilton of these modern days, facing huger problems than his prototype of the dawn of the republic.

"WHEN EVERYTHING IS LOVELY"

"When everything is lovely", as colloquially expressed, any business or enterprise seems to be running on an even keel and of its own momentum. There may be a man on the bridge, stokers in the hold, sailors on deck, but the average passenger thinks the craft just runs itself.

Let a storm arise, let the breakers reveal shoals of trouble, then all hands keep their eyes on the captain. He is the man to make the decisions and make them quickly to save the ship and passengers.

Just so in many a business. When it runs smoothly and makes money, everybody wants credit for the direction of the same. If a snag is hit and trouble ensues, there is a ducking of many heads to avoid responsibility. It is then the executive shoulders the burden and hustles the ship on its course.

Politics is the same thing. When the party gets along nicely, people are satisfied with the party in power, the President gets little if any credit for his direction of affairs. But should a crisis arise, should there be difficulties, then every move of the President is watched and as party leader he comes in for the bulk of the criticism.

GUNMAN ASSASSINATION

WHEN Assistant State's Attorney McSwiggan of Illinois fell a victim to a hail of machine gun bullets, when Don Mellett, editor and publisher of the Canton Daily News, was shot down by a rain of bullets, it marked the era of gunman assassination.

Here and there, in reading of other slaying in large cities, crops out the dread supposition that men exist who make it a business to kill. Beer gangs, vice gangs, narcotic gangs, as one reads the papers, appear to have a strong arm force whose business it is to shoot and kill.

It is time the sovereign state of Illinois as well as the commonwealth of Ohio tracked down malefactors and put an end to this gunman assassination. If there are "higher ups" directing the path of these bullets, they should be made to suffer as well as the men who do the actual killing.

China gave us a taste of tong warfare. Italy has its old world feuds, germs of which are carried to this country and flourish in hotbeds of vice. It is time that America stamped out its fires of hate and murder exemplified in gang warfare.

CHARLES J. MOOS

CHARLES J. MOOS is a St. Cloud boy who made good as a contractor in concrete highway construction, then entered the political field in St. Paul and was made postmaster there. Into that job he carried the same penchant for business principles, carefulness for detail, etc., which marked him in private ventures. St. Paul thinks he is a good postmaster and so do all the men working for him.

Yesterday postal clerks and letter carriers of St. Paul traveled en masse to St. Cloud, and appeared in the parade of the State Federation of Postoffice Clerks and the State Association of Letter Carriers.

It was a testimonial to Charles J. Moos, and they clearly showed his home town that they thought well of him as a postmaster.

KINGS are but human. The days when some sort of divinity hedged in royalty appears going. In other words, democracy is trimming the hedge, and cutting into the so-called divine rights of kings. The other day the king and queen of England entertained the king and queen of Spain. As proof of the importance of the occasion the Britishers took from the royal cupboard one of their best gold services. That's just like the people here at home, who use the best china when company stops for dinner.

WE notice with pleasure a new sign at the entrance of the Tourist Park. It designates the park correctly and does away with the early misnomer of "Visitors Park". The latter always was confusing. The only time people are guests of the city is in formal affairs, like when the keys of the city were figuratively handed to the mayor of the City of Winnipeg.

WHEN something detrimental in the weather line occurs in northern Minnesota you do not find anyone claiming it's Arrow-head country. As a matter of odd news, snowflakes in July weather gets a mention, but no tourist cares to breast such a chill proposition.

Indians Used Wampum as General Currency

As is generally known, wampum was a sort of Indian money or means of exchange among tribes encountered by the early colonists along the Atlantic seaboard, and for a considerable distance inland. R. W. Thorp writes, in Adventure Magazine. The term itself is derived from an Algonquin word and referred to small shell beads of two kinds or descriptions, the difference in the two lying in the color, one sort being white and the other violet. The violet beads are nearly always referred to as black wampum by historians. They were made in a cylindrical form, averaging about one-eighth of an inch in diameter and one-fourth inch in length. Most of these beads were bored in the center and placed upon strings, some of which were afterward woven into bracelets, girdles and the like, and passed among the savages the same as gold and silver among the civilized peoples. Very little wampum was carried in its loose form, the single strings being about the smallest unit of value, and that, according to length, as a matter of course. The black sort was the most valuable, and was worth, according to measure, ten shillings per fathom; while the white was worth only half that sum, probably owing to the fact that the former was made from a certain grade of shell, while the latter was a product made from various shells.

The bracelets were next highest in value above the single strings and were made about nine inches long, woven in stripes of black and white, six pieces in a row, the warp consisting of leather thongs and the woof of thread. The bracelets were generally worn by the squaws, wrapped twice or three times about the wrist.

The finest of the wampum, and highest in value, was woven into girdles. These girdles were of two sorts. One kind was about a yard in length, with fourteen strings in a row, woven into black and white squares, continued obliquely from edge to edge. The other was more complicated, consisting of fifteen strings in a row woven into black diamond squares and crosses within them, the spaces between being filled with white. When not worn as the richest ornament of the possessor, the girdles were used in large payments or as a treasured present or gift on auspicious occasions.

Known and Found Wanting

Irvin S. Cobb, the humorous writer, and lecturer, was praising women novelists—Sarah G. Millin and the author of "Elizabeth and Her German Garden" and Susan Glaspell.

"How those women know us men," he said, "and how they despise us! Elizabeth especially despises us. Her works make me think of a story."

"Mrs. Blank and her daughter, on a visit to Palm Beach, were returning to their rooms after tea in the Coconut grove."

"I wonder," said the daughter, "if papa has got back from his golf yet?"

"Mrs. Blank laughed—a hard, metallic laugh."

"Thum a jazz tune," she said, "and spray a little Eau de Venus in the air, and your father, if he's within a mile of us, will stick his head out of his bedroom door to flirt with the chambermaid."

Jimmy Got a Bargain

Jimmy is a little urchin who often comes into the chain store where I work, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. He seems always hungry, and is continually prying candy and other dainties displayed on the counters, but frequently he has no money with which to buy anything, which has gotten me into the habit of answering him carelessly and at random.

The other afternoon, on his way home from school he came in and, rubbing his dirty fingers against a glass jar of fine big chocolates standing on the counter, he asked: "How many of these for a nickel?"

"O, two or three," I replied unthinkingly.

"All right," said Jimmy, producing his nickel, "give me three."

The New Moralists

William Lyon Phelps, the noted critic, said at a reception in New Haven:

"Our new school of psychoanalytic novelists champion everybody except the virtuous and hard-working. The bad, according to these fan-followers, are better than the good."

"Their reasoning reminds me of an anecdote. A chap fell on the back of his head. When he got up he growled: 'I think a full-grown man who throws a banana skin on the pavement is a skunk.'"

"Ah," said another chap, "but what do you think of a banana skin that throws a full-grown man on the pavement?"

Keeps Tab on Autos

Albert Lynn, whose hobby is counting automobiles that pass his home at Berwick, Pa., expects this year to pass the 1,000,000 mark. He began counting in 1913, and all his spare time has since been devoted to that work, with the result that he is now well past the 800,000 mark. In 1924 he put into use a specially made counting device. With this, the first 100,000 was completed in 251 hours of counting time, the second block of 100,000 in 215 hours and 40 minutes, the third in 209 hours and 15 minutes, and the fourth 100,000 in 190 hours and 30 minutes. Traffic passing his home in both directions is counted, but motorcycles are not included.

THE CLOUDED LEOPARD

"I am not going to be friendly with anyone," growled the Clouded Leopard.

"I am not friendly by nature and I have no wish to change my nature."

"I don't like people and I don't care if they don't like me."

"It makes absolutely no difference to me at all."

"Oh, all right," said the Jungle Cat, snarling, "I don't believe anyone wants to be friendly with you."

"I am sure they don't."

"Besides I am not so very friendly myself."

"I like to eat when mealtime comes, sleep when it is sleeping time, and take naps whenever I feel like it."

"At all other times I like to think of how stealthy I am when I am free. Ah, what adventures I have had, and how clever and crafty I have been."

"From where do you come?" asked the Clouded Leopard in rather a bored voice.

"I come from the jungles, but in regions where people live so far away."

"How about you?"

"I was going to talk about myself," said the Clouded Leopard, "for after all there is nothing so interesting."

"Depends entirely on the point of view," said the Jungle Cat.

"I know nothing of points of view and care less for them," said the Clouded Leopard.

"I suppose you mean the opinions which different people have."

"Well to continue about the interesting Clouded Leopard," said the Clouded Leopard, "I can climb trees."

"I am that rare type of leopard known as the tree-climbing leopard."

"I live in the jungles when I am free—where it is warm I prefer it."

"I have beautiful markings, lovely patches as you can see for yourself."

"They make me handsome."

"I've heard the children don't always like to have patches—perhaps because they have to be sewed onto their suits and dresses—but I love patches—my nice, handsome patches of fur."

"In fact I once heard one of the Fairies, who was paying a visit here, talking to an Old Patch creature who said how his children were never welcomed by other children and never were wanted even though they always did take them along with them once they attached themselves."

"Oh no, Old Patch creature certainly said his children were not much loved."

"But that is why they have called me the Clouded Leopard, because I look cloudy with my beautiful colors and the strange arrangement of the patches.

"Still, I am very delicate."

"I won't live in the zoo unless they take the most perfect care of me."

"They give me this dimly-lighted cage because it reminds me of the dark jungles from where I have come."

"Ah, if I were back there I would do some fine hunting and killing and my long teeth would be helpful."

"Have you taken a good look, a really good look, at my long teeth?"

But the Jungle Cat had gone to sleep, so the Clouded Leopard talked to himself, but he did not mind, for he did not care for a single creature except himself.

That was the way he felt and he acted accordingly.

Picture of Wrong Dog

Grace was in the first grade. She had been boasting of her prowess with the primer and at last her uncle took the book, pointed to a page whereon a dog was pictured, and asked her to read. Glibly she rattled off a succession of short sentences.

"Why, Grace," her uncle interrupted, "there isn't a word of that printed here."

After looking closely at the page, Grace turned to her uncle and replied: "Why, of course not, Uncle Tom, that's the picture of the wrong dog."

Hand-Painted Scarf Nothing

"My mamma's got a nice new scarf," said little Hazel.

"Well, what of that?" replied Dorothy.

"My mamma's got a half-dozen scarfs."

"Yes, but my mamma's scarf is hand painted," said Hazel.

"Oh, gee, that's nothin'!" rejoined Dorothy, "our whole house is."

Why No Cost

Mary Jane, eight, said to her mother as they were about to go into a restaurant for lunch, "Mother, we won't have to pay in this restaurant because on the window it says: 'Ladies invited.'"

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

July 19, 1901

Miss Kate Whiteley has gone to North Dakota where she will teach in a summer training school.

Will S. Koop has gone to Duluth where he will join a party of friends who go to Buffalo to take in the Pan American exposition.

Rev. J. C. Huntington formerly of the First Congregational church of this city is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Losey.

John Chulow today accepted a position as brakeman on the Minnesota and International.

Commissioner Paine accompanied Sheriff Erickson to Stillwater with James Knapp.

There was an incipient strike at the mills of the Brainerd Lumber company night before last when about 15 of the green wood pilers walked out and refused to go to work, until what they considered as a grievance would be settled. The heat of the past week has had as much to do with the dissatisfaction as anything else, although the men asked for a higher scale. The difference was easily settled and the men are all at work again.

Herman Jamieson left today for Seattle. He will sail in a few days for Dawson, Alaska where he is to join his father Charles Jamieson, who is keeping a hotel there.

Miss Constance Gilman of St. Cloud, arrived in the city this noon. She will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Alderman at Gull Lake for a week or two. Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Alderman, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Alderman, Miss Winnie Smith, Miss Grace Low and Mrs. Chipperfield will comprise the party. Mr. Chipperfield is expected in the city by Sunday and he will also be with the party for two weeks.

The company was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy, Miss Lizzie Willis, Miss Clara Paine, Miss Nora Theviot, Miss Bessie Spalding and Messrs. Hiram More, James Nolan and Bert Fynn.

OLD NEGRO SINGING NOW SELDOM HEARD

Lovers of Music Keenly Regret Its Passing.

Some of the most cherished traditions of the old South are fast being lost by the new South. The "spirituals" and unmatched harmony in the old plantation songs of the negro are fast becoming extinct. Industrial progress is blamed by music critics for this and other changed conditions among the negro race.

The large plantations of the South were once the homes of the chief negro musicians. Now the best musicians of that race, it is pointed out, are to be found in the large cities and centers of population, and many of these have acquired cultural attainments which have detracted from the old songs. One must go far into the state of Alabama now to find negro singing that even approximates the harmony that once existed over the entire South.

Tuskegee institute is making a big effort to preserve and retain the old

Success?

Is there anything more interesting than failure, or anything duller than success? The moment that success comes all is over. The occupation has vanished. Ambition and will depart. One has nothing else to do but live it down. But with failure, all things are possible!

Cultivate Right Posture

Posture is a dynamic rather than a static thing; it is a by-product of well-balanced and vigorous muscular health and activity. The wild animal and the savage are commonly lithe, supple and quick, yet they have no disciplinarians constantly taking them to task for their slovenly habits of standing and sitting.

Answering Some Further Questions about Latex-treated Web Cord

NOTE—So great an interest has been shown in this new construction because of the service given by United States Royal Cord Tires on passenger cars and busses that a further explanation of this patented process has been suggested.

Q—Is treating cords with Latex entirely new in the building?
A—Yes. Until this process was developed by the United States Rubber Company, the use of Latex before it had been coagulated into crude rubber had never been used in tire building.

Q—Is the process patented?
A—Yes. The process is patented and owned by this Company.

Q—What are its advantages?
A—The tire engineer's ideal is a tire thin and flexible as a soap bubble and strong as steel. The more you can add to a tire's strength without increasing its weight the better.

Latex-treated Web Cord provides the strength and flexibility without adding unnecessary weight.

Q—Is it possible to make the cord structure of a tire too heavy?
A—Yes. Just as a cable made of many strands of fine and highly tempered wire can be stronger than a heavier iron bar, so the cord structure of a tire can be made strong, yet light and flexible, through this process.

Q—How does treating cords in Latex give additional strength?
A—Latex is virgin rubber just as it comes from the tree.

There are no chemicals in Latex to destroy the natural oils in the cotton or to weaken the cord fibre.

Each cord in a United States Tire is run through a tank of Latex by means of the machine shown in the illustration above. The cords are then laid side by side and drawn up over heated rollers which evaporate the water in the Latex, producing a rubberized fabric of cotton cords and pure rubber.

Each cord is impregnated and surrounded by rubber, and attached to its neighboring cord with an elastic rubber web.

Q—Are there any other advantages?
A—Yes. In the old cord fabric, the main strands in the cord structure were tied to each other with fine threads.

Latex-treated Web Cord has none of these cross-tie threads and this source of internal friction is therefore eliminated.

By looking inside of a Royal Cord Tire and comparing it with tires made of the old cord fabric you will see that the Royal Cord has a much smoother and even appearance.

Little Visits

Around the Rural Section

Written especially for the Dispatch by W. H. Triplett, travelling editor for this paper and The Farmer of St. Paul.

W. H. Triplett

The readers of the Little Visits were somewhat disappointed to find the Little Visits missing in Monday night's issue, but you will all have to forgive the writer as I had sickness in the family, consequently no Visits were written.

This morning we first called on Matt Mandery to see how he was getting along. The gas is the big seller at his little store on the 8 mile corner.

Tom Thorson was busy dragging the roads, consequently I did not talk to him. He is renting his father's place but the road requires most of his attention as he is maintenance man, so his father does most of the farm work. For anyone wishing to start up farming, Albert Thorson has 120 acres of well improved land, a new barn 36x70 that would make an ideal dairy barn, a new granary, and a seven room house. There is a wind break on the northwest side of the farmstead that gives good protection both winter and summer. There are 80 acres under cultivation and 25 acres of tame hay on the place.

Mondays and Saturdays are the two worst days the writer has to contend with when it comes to not finding farmers at home. John Novotny, Martin Elde, Elmer Tollefson, George Lusso, and the Gollmar Brothers were all absent though in some cases I talked to some other member of the family.

Mrs. George Bock has lived in the community for the past 38 years. At present her two sons are running the place which consists of 120 acres. A little of everything is always raised which assures them of at least one crop. Mrs. Bock's daughter, Mrs. Beckley and children of Brainerd are visiting there this week.

Elmer Tollefson is doing carpenter work at Clearwater Lake. He has lived on the place the last 13 years. This summer, Mr. Fleishbacher is running the farm which consists of 80 acres. Seven cows of mixed breed supply the family with milk besides bringing in a small income.

Fred Bock is one of many prosperous farmers in the community who is using a silo and he reports that it only takes five acres of corn to supply him with enough feed to last him all winter and most of the spring. There is no other crop as yet known that will yield as much feed per acre as corn silage. Sixteen cows are milked, six of which are high grade heifers of Guernsey breed. A pure bred sire has been at the head of the herd for some time. Mr. Bock has 160 acres which he farms by himself, but uses all modern machinery, thus saving much time and labor.

Although somewhat after the dinner hour when I called on Adolph Johnson, I was invited to dinner which was certainly enjoyed and appreciated. The Johnsons have an all modern up-to-date farm including electric light and running water, making their farm life enjoyable and attractive. Mr. Johnson seeded four acres of alfalfa a week before the Fourth, without a nurse crop and it is now over eight inches high; he remarked that it is doing better than the four acres he seeded last spring with a nurse crop. I have heard farmers remark that alfalfa would not grow and make a crop if seeded later than May, but here is one instance and there are others in the same community who have proven that alfalfa will make a crop if seeded late providing we have normal weather conditions. Mr. Johnson's son, Arthur, is leaving Wednesday morning for North Dakota.

Bert Kaser was having difficulty in getting his car tuned up but with two heads together we soon got her singing as a good Chevrolet should. He formerly lived in Indiana, coming to Minnesota 11 years ago. At present he is following the painters trade, and using only the buildings.

L. N. Bock is one of our ex-service men who helped to put over a heavy barrage when the infantry was advancing. He served with the 27th Division, spending six months in France. Since the war he has farmed 40 acres, with the exception of one year which he spent at the Agricultural School at St. Paul. His major enterprise is poultry, having over 450 chickens that demand a great deal of attention. Anyone who likes fried chicken may have his wishes fulfilled as Mr. Bock has 100 fliers that may be bought at a reasonable price.

George Lusso has 55 acres that he has farmed for 18 years, but has worked out a good share of the time.

Roy Cook is proprietor of the store at Cooks corner where anything from a carpet tack to a haystack may be bought. The store is advantageously located as it saves farmers a great deal of time in traveling to and from town. Cigars, soft drinks and ice cream are also sold to relieve one's thirst these hot days. Tourists can always be furnished with gas and oil day or night.

Roy Bock was trying his best to get the well fixed so he could get a drink. He has farmed 80 acres for the past eight years, but has spent most of this summer working at Savage.

H. E. Meyers is renting the Beckley place which consists of 120 acres. He has a very nice garden and five acres of potatoes. Today he was busy repairing fence which was a pretty hot job. Tourists and fishermen going to Mille Lacs can always be assured of bait as the little Meyers boy has angle worms for sale at the rate of 12 for five cents.

Australia Holds Record

Melbourne, Australia, asserts it has one of the busiest railway stations in the world in the Flinders street terminal, through which 300,000 persons pass daily. Believing London stations could show bigger figures, the British Railway Gazette checked the daily flow of passengers through London's largest stations, Liverpool street and Waterloo, but found the total at the former was only 244,330.—New York Herald Tribune.

Women Architects

Nine women are enrolled in a course of straight architecture at the University of Illinois. The course is of four years and leads to a degree of bachelor of science. They have the same curricula as the men and are required to do the same work. Instructors in the class say there is great opportunity for women in architecture, especially along domestic lines.

Evil to Be Combated

Men's hearts ought not to be set against one another, but set with one another, and all against the evil thing only.—Carlyle.

AMUSEMENTS

Screen Actors Declared Best

"There are more real actors and actresses in motion pictures than on the speaking stage," declares Constance Talmadge.

"Also," she adds, "the films are developing a new school of players who more closely approach the old style of actors than do the present generation on the speaking stage."

"For years stage managers have picked players because they 'looked the part,' in other words, 'for type.' Not so in Hollywood."

Constance is now appearing in "Her Night of Romance," her latest First National comedy, at the Lyceum Theatre tonight and Wednesday.

Beginning Early in Life

One of the good "daddies" who had gone to Florida to get rich told his two little girls, age seven and nine, he would give them 25 cents for every letter they composed and mailed to him.

Mary Ann, age seven, wrote one like this: "Dear Daddy—I want you to come home. I don't know when you are coming, but when you do come, come a day sooner."

It brought daddy and double pay.—Indianapolis News.

"What Is The Meaning Of Neuralgic Pains?"

PERSISTENT attacks of Neuralgic or Sciatic pains point to an impoverished nervous system and a weak, watery condition of the blood.

Darting, stabbing pains with intervals of pain or aching are common to neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago.

The pain follows the nerve trunks or spreads to other nerves and there are tender spots.

In the head—neuralgia. In the back—lumbago. In the hip—sciatica.

Temporary relief is not sufficient for the attacks become frequent and more severe as age advances and it is more and more difficult to obtain relief.

Sleep, relaxation, nutrition are necessary to restore the nervous force exhausted by the activities and worries of life.

And in this connection Dr. Chase's Tonic Pills are most satisfactory as a means of enriching the blood, strengthening the nerves and building up the system, so that it is able to throw off ailments of this nature.

Why suffer these repeated attacks of pain and torture when by a few weeks' patient treatment with this well-known and proven restorative you can bring your system up to a condition that throws off such ailments.

With vitality running low you are an easy prey to colds and all sorts of dangerous diseases.

Neuralgic and sciatic pains are a warning to you to fortify the system by the use of such reconstructive and invigorating treatment as Dr. Chase's Tonic Pills.

Patterns of progress

An American home—its bathtub, breakfast foods, furnace—set down in the heart of Europe would be unmistakably an American home. An American man, the cut of his coat, the tie of his tie, the comb of his hair—walking the streets of Europe is in all his obvious tastes an American.

Advertisements stamp American homes and owners of homes with a kind of national pattern. They create desire for the same kind of things; make particular people know and want the most advanced of things. Homes—what to put in homes. People—how to dress, nourish, entertain the people. Offices—how to equip and operate offices. They set America right about radios and talcums—tell businessmen, housewives, government officials how to brush their teeth!

We cut the pattern of our personal lives and surroundings from advertisements. We keep modern only with their intimate help. We go forward with them, as we would stand still without them. ## Little Visits Around the Rural Section

Written especially for the Dispatch by W. H. Triplett, travelling editor for this paper and The Farmer of St. Paul.

W. H. Triplett

The readers of the Little Visits were somewhat disappointed to find the Little Visits missing in Monday night's issue, but you will all have to forgive the writer as I had sickness in the family, consequently no Visits were written.

This morning we first called on Matt Mandery to see how he was getting along. The gas is the big seller at his little store on the 8 mile corner.

Tom Thorson was busy dragging the roads, consequently I did not talk to him. He is renting his father's place but the road requires most of his attention as he is maintenance man, so his father does most of the farm work. For anyone wishing to start up farming, Albert Thorson has 120 acres of well improved land, a new barn 36x70 that would make an ideal dairy barn, a new granary, and a seven room house. There is a wind break on the north-west side of the farmstead that gives good protection both winter and summer. There are 80 acres under cultivation and 25 acres of tame hay on the place.

Mondays and Saturdays are the two worst days the writer has to contend with when it comes to not finding farmers at home. John Novotny, Martin Eide, Elmer Tollefson, George Lusso, and the Golliar Brothers were all absent though in some cases I talked to some other member of the family.

Mrs. George Bock has lived in the community for the past 38 years. At present her two sons are running the place which consists of 120 acres. A little of everything is always raised which assures them of at least one crop. Mrs. Bock's daughter, Mrs. Beckley and children of Brainerd are visiting there this week.

Elmer Tollefson is doing carpenter work at Clearwater Lake. He has lived on the place the last 13 years. This summer, Mr. Fleishbacher is running the farm which consists of 80 acres. Seven cows of mixed breed supply the family with milk besides bringing in a small income.

Fred Bock is one of many prosperous farmers in the community who is using a silo and he reports that it only takes five acres of corn to supply him with enough feed to last him all winter and most of the spring. There is no other crop as yet known that will yield as much feed per acre as corn silage. Sixteen cows are milked, six of which are high grade heifers of Guernsey breed. A pure bred sire has been at the head of the herd for some time. Mr. Bock has 160 acres which he farms by himself, but uses all modern machinery, thus saving much time and labor.

Although somewhat after the dinner hour when I called on Adolph Johnson, I was invited to dinner which was certainly enjoyed and appreciated. The Johnsons have an all modern up-to-date farm including electric light and running water, making their farm life enjoyable and attractive. Mr. Johnson seeded four acres of alfalfa a week before the fourth, without a nurse crop and it is now over eight inches high; he remarked that it is doing better than the four acres he seeded last spring with a nurse crop. I have heard farmers remark that alfalfa would not grow and make a crop if seeded later than May, but here is one instance and there are others in the same community who have proven that alfalfa will make a crop if seeded late providing we have normal weather conditions. Mr. Johnson's son, Arthur, is leaving Wednesday morning for North Dakota.

Bert Kaser was having difficulty in getting his car tuned up but with two heads together we soon got her singing as a good Chevrolet should. He formerly lived in Indiana, coming to Minnesota 11 years ago. At present he is following the painters trade, and using only the buildings.

L. N. Bock is one of our ex-service men who helped to put over a heavy barrage when the infantry was advancing. He served with the 27th Division, spending six months in France. Since the war he has farmed 40 acres, with the exception of one year which he spent at the Agricultural School at St. Paul. His major enterprise is poultry, having over 450 chickens that demand a great deal of attention. Anyone who likes fried chicken may have his wishes fulfilled as Mr. Bock has 100 fliers that may be bought at a reasonable price.

George Lusso has 55 acres that he has farmed for 18 years, but has worked out a good share of the time. Roy Cook is proprietor of the store at Cooks corner where anything from a carpet tack to a haystacker may be bought. The store is advantageously located as it saves farmers a great deal of time in traveling to and from town. Cigars, soft drinks and ice cream are also sold to relieve one's thirst these hot days. Tourists can always be furnished with gas and oil day or night.

Roy Bock was trying his best to get the well fixed so he could get a drink. He has farmed 80 acres for the past eight years, but has spent most of this summer working at Savage.

H. E. Meyers is renting the Beckley place which consists of 120 acres. He has a very nice garden and five acres of potatoes. Today he was busy repairing fence which was a pretty hot job. Tourists and fishermen going to Mille Lacs can always be assured of bait as the little Meyers boy has angle worms for sale at the rate of 12 for five cents.

W. H. TRIPLETT.

Australia Holds Record

Melbourne, Australia, asserts it has one of the busiest railway stations in the world in the Flinders street terminal, through which 300,000 persons pass daily. Believing London stations could show bigger figures, the British Railway Gazette checked the daily flow of passengers through London's largest stations, Liverpool street and Waterloo, but found the total at the former was only 244,336.—New York Herald Tribune.

Women Architects

Nine women are enrolled in a course of straight architecture at the University of Illinois. The course is of four years and leads to a degree of bachelor of science. They have the same curricula as the men and are required to do the same work. Instructors in the class say there is great opportunity for women in architecture, especially along domestic lines.

Screen Actors Declared Best

"There are more real actors and actresses in motion pictures than on the speaking stage," declares Constance Talmadge.

"Also," she adds, "the films are developing a new school of players who more closely approach the old style of actors than do the present generation on the speaking stage."

"For years stage managers have picked players because they 'looked the part'; in other words, 'for type.' Not so in Hollywood."

Constance is now appearing in "Her Night of Romance," her latest First National comedy, at the Lyceum Theatre tonight and Wednesday.

RICKARD WORRIES BOXING COMMISSION

N. Y. BODY WANTS WILLS TO MEET DEMPSEY

RICKARD PROCEEDS WITH HIS PLANS FOR DEMPSEY-TUNNEY BATTLE

NEW YORK PROMOTER MAY STAGE CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT IN CHICAGO

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, July 20.—After having used all the legal phrases in the book for more than two years to say "no" to Jack Dempsey, the New York boxing commission will be called on today to repeat the negative more violently or turn a flip flop and whisper a humble "yes."

The activities of Tex Rickard in pushing forward plans for a heavyweight championship fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney in spite of the commission's insistence that Harry Wills comes first and the threat of the New York promoter to stage the match in Chicago has placed the commission in a tight place. Something must be done or said that will not draw a laugh from the public and the cheer of "razzberries from the dukes" from the principals.

Up to this time the commission had a hole to crawl into. Rickard the commissioner said, does not admit he had been dealing with Dempsey and Tunney, an act that would subject him to discipline. But Rickard certainly has confessed that crime now and the commission will have to take action.

The commission will be asked some questions:
"What are you going to do to Dempsey if anything?"

"Where will the commission hold the fight?" and others.

The commission may feel like many others that Rickard has used the Chicago club merely as a threat, and may decide to call a bluff with him. But Rickard is known to be a hard customer to talk out of a good thing.

Recent developments in the situation have put more than the pride of the commission at stake. If the commission rates its pride as being more important than dollars, it can force Rickard to go out of the state with the match he is stubbornly insisting upon making.

Rickard's friends here believe he has not abandoned hope of being able to stage the match in New York and that he has reasons to believe the commission can find a way of backing down gracefully.

One method suggested would be to force Dempsey and Tunney to sign an agreement that the winner would meet Wills. But this would be of little benefit to Wills as Rickard insists he will never lend a hand or a cent to the promotion of a mixed heavyweight championship fight.

Another way out would have been to buy off Wills to withdraw his challenge, but this method already has failed. Some said Wills demanded too many provisions, too much money and others said that the commission let him know that he could not withdraw his challenge after the members had made themselves foolish for two years fighting his case.

DEFINITE DECISION ON SITE EXPECTED TODAY

Chicago, July 20.—Definite decision of the site of the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney heavyweight championship battle is expected from Tex Rickard today. Local influence led by Doc Krone, Chicago promoter, deadlocked the conference here yesterday, when Krone declared that Rickard's interest in Chicago as the scene of the encounter was designed to draw overtures from the New York boxing commission, which favors a Dempsey-Wills engagement.

Rickard denied the implication that he was sparring with the New York group, however, and declared that Chicago, under the new law, would be the fight capital of the nation.

"This town is fight crazy," said Rickard.

Holding that Gene Tunney is the original white challenger, Rickard indicated at the conclusion of yesterday's conference that he would favor Chicago for the fight and continue to oppose pressure from New York for a preliminary battle with Wills.

Rickard was confident today that the Dempsey-Tunney bout could be arranged within two months. He said he was ready to desert New York permanently for the Chicago field.

LOCAL GOLFERS DOWN DEERWOOD CLUB, 13 TO 3

DEERWOOD WILL PLAY A RETURN MATCH HERE SUNDAY.

PLAY STARTS AT 8 A. M.

PLANS BEING MADE FOR SECOND ANNUAL TOURIST GOLF TOURNEY HERE AUG. 1

The Brainerd Country club members who journeyed to Deerwood last Sunday brought back the bacon with them, defeating the Deerwood Country club team by the score of 13 to 3.

This Sunday the Deerwood golfers will play a return match here at the Brainerd Country club. Play will start at 8 A. M.

Plans are already being made to stage the second annual tourist golf tournament at the Brainerd Country club on Sunday, Aug. 1. Complete announcement will be made later.

Watching the Scoreboard

The Yankees helped themselves to eight runs in the first inning yesterday, disposed of two pitchers and hung up a victory over the Browns, 11 to 2.

The Giants dropped another to the hard hitting Cubs yesterday, making it two straight. Fitzsimmons, Scott and Ring were easy for the victors, who bunched 16 hits.

The Pirates trounced the lowly Braves 10-4 to keep up with the winning Reds. Genewich and Mogridge gave the Pirates hits at opportune times.

The Athletics lost the second straight game to the Tigers when Quinn blew up in the eighth. He gave four hits, and an error enabled the Tigers to get in the winning runs. The score was 8 to 3.

Fred Marberry, stellar relief pitcher, starting his second game of the season for the Senators, pitched a brilliant game, allowing but three hits. The Senators won from the Indians, 4 to 2.

Mostil's first hit of the series against the Red Sox was a deciding factor for the White Sox in the ninth inning. His single drove in Schalk for the 5 to 4 victory.

The Phillies spiked the Cardinals' guns in the 10th inning, 4 to 3. The count was tied in the ninth and the winning run was brought home by means of a sacrifice.

White Bear Yacht Club, White Bear, Minn., July 20.—(UP)—With another scorching day ahead of them the 150 golfers in the Western Amateur tournament here started the second 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round today.

One of the favorites, Jimmy Johnston, of St. Paul, was leading the field. His brand of golf justified the belief of followers that his knowledge of the White Bear course would stand him in good stead. His card for the first 18 holes was 68, four under par.

One stroke behind Johnston was Jack Westland, of Portland, the young collegian, who played a remarkable game to get a 69 for the first eighteen.

James C. "Jimmy" Ward, of Kansas City, who started out poorly with a 6 and 5 for his first two holes, settled down in earnest to play under par, golf and had a card of 71. Ward gave promise of being a dark horse of the first magnitude.

Down along the line, most of the leaders were favorites and had been expected to qualify. "Chick" Evans of Chicago, however, had a 78 and needed to equal that to be among the first 32.

Dexter Cummings, of Chicago, the Windy City amateur, title holder, and Al Tverra, Minneapolis district champion, were tied for fourth with 73's, one over par.

150 GOLFERS FACE SCORCHING DAY AT WHITE BEAR

WESTERN AMATEUR TOURNAMENT STARTS SECOND 18 HOLES

JOHNSTON'S CARD FOR FIRST 18 HOLES WAS 68, BEING 4 UNDER PAR

White Bear Yacht Club, White Bear, Minn., July 20.—(UP)—With another scorching day ahead of them the 150 golfers in the Western Amateur tournament here started the second 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round today.

One of the favorites, Jimmy Johnston, of St. Paul, was leading the field. His brand of golf justified the belief of followers that his knowledge of the White Bear course would stand him in good stead. His card for the first 18 holes was 68, four under par.

One stroke behind Johnston was Jack Westland, of Portland, the young collegian, who played a remarkable game to get a 69 for the first eighteen.

James C. "Jimmy" Ward, of Kansas City, who started out poorly with a 6 and 5 for his first two holes, settled down in earnest to play under par, golf and had a card of 71. Ward gave promise of being a dark horse of the first magnitude.

Down along the line, most of the leaders were favorites and had been expected to qualify. "Chick" Evans of Chicago, however, had a 78 and needed to equal that to be among the first 32.

Dexter Cummings, of Chicago, the Windy City amateur, title holder, and Al Tverra, Minneapolis district champion, were tied for fourth with 73's, one over par.

Johnston had a 33 on his first nine holes and needed to play par golf to tie Westland, but he took the lead with his last stroke, which holed a 20-foot putt for a birdie three on the eighteen green, beating the coast collegian by one stroke.

Westland also went out in 33, playing a consistent game and laying his approaches with exactness. Deuces on the third and sixth holes and a birdie on the ninth helped his score and he came back in par, 36.

Ward's difficulty on his first two holes held him back and gave him a 38 for the outgoing nine, but he settled down to a spectacular game and came in in 33.

Scores of the leaders follow:

Harrison Johnston, White Bear, 33-35-68.

Jack Westland, Portland, Ore., 33-36-69.

James C. Ward, Kansas City, 38-33-71.

Arthur Tverra, Minneapolis, 35-38-73.

Dexter Cummings, Chicago, 39-34-73.

J. M. Pollard, Omaha, 37-37-74.

Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, Ore., 39-35-74.

Robert McKee, Des Moines, 37-37-74.

Ben Stein, Seattle, 35-39-74.

Densmore Shute, Huntington, W. Va., 37-38-75.

Rudy Knepper, Chicago, 37-38-75.

M. W. Bards, Kansas City, 37-38-75.

L. B. Maytag, Wauconda, 36-39-75.

White Bear Yacht Club, White Bear, Minn., July 20.—James C. Ward, of Kansas City, led the early finishers of the third nine holes of the 36-hole qualifying round of the Western Amateur Golf tournament here today.

Ward went out in 38, which, with his 71, in the first 18 holes yesterday, gave him a score of 109. He will have to shoot par golf or better in order to be near the top at the end of the qualifying round today, however. Yesterday he overcame a similar handicap.

Among the low scores were: James C. Ward, Kansas City, 38-33-71.

Ben Stein, Seattle, 35-39-74.

Eddie Held, St. Louis, 37-40-76-113.

Chuck Hunter, Tacoma, 36-41-76-113.

Frank Dolp, Portland, Oregon, 40-37-39-116.

Len C. Fone, Milwaukee, 40-39-41-120.

L. R. Fowler, Alexandria, 38-40-40-118.

Most of the early scores were high. The players shot under a blistering sun in a temperature that ranged around the nineties.

The remaining nine holes of the qualifying round will be played this afternoon.

He Was Ordered to Pick Up Coach Yost

There is a man who thought Rex Beach was a summer resort and the Kentucky derby a hat; and there is the railroad conductor who thought Fielding H. Yost, athletic director of the University of Michigan, was a railroad coach.

Coach Yost was at a way station recently, but had arranged that the fast train should stop and pick him up. The train order to the conductor said to stop and "pick up Coach Yost."

When the train stopped the conductor swung down and walked back to couple "Coach Yost" to the train. It took Yost, one of the best-known men in Michigan, some time to convince the conductor that he was the coach referred to.

FARRELL COACHED BY BEST TUTORS

Played Under Walsh, Bridwell and Larry Doyle.

If Edward Farrell isn't a finished ball player this season then baseball coaching is a false alarm. Not only did he have three years of shortstopping at the University of Pennsylvania, but he has had the best tutoring the game affords outside the classic precincts.

He passed one semester with Ed Walsh, former White Sox pitcher; he passed another under Al Bridwell, who did some shortstopping himself, and a third with Larry Doyle, famed giant second sacker, for the Giants. Not of the least importance were two terms with Hughie Jennings and John McGraw. As a preparatory student of our national game, Ed takes all the medals.

It was back in 1921 when, just out of high school, Ed Walsh, then conducting a semi-pro team at Oneonta, N. Y., picked up the youngster. He went back to Oneonta the next year when Bridwell had the team. That accounted for his activities up to the spring of 1923, when he signed an agreement with the Giants to join the team as soon as he had graduated from college.

Ed was getting to be the flossiest infielder that the University of Pennsylvania had produced and John McGraw stayed awake nights in fear that he might lose him; so to be certain of him he was invited to join the Metropolitan outfit the latter half of the 1924 season just as a "guest" of the club. He made one road trip with the team before he had to return to his studies in college.

He graduated from the dental department of the university last June and besides his "S. S." he can also tack "D. D. S." to his name.

Ed was getting to be the flossiest infielder that the University of Pennsylvania had produced and John McGraw stayed awake nights in fear that he might lose him; so to be certain of him he was invited to join the Metropolitan outfit the latter half of the 1924 season just as a "guest" of the club. # RICKARD WORRIES BOXING COMMISSION

N. Y. BODY WANTS WILLS TO MEET DEMPSEY

RICKARD PROCEEDS WITH HIS PLANS FOR DEMPSEY-TUNNEY BATTLE

NEW YORK PROMOTER MAY STAGE CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT IN CHICAGO

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 20.—After having used all the legal phrases in the book for more than two years to say "no" to Jack Dempsey, the New York boxing commission will be called on today to repeat the negative more violently or turn a flip flop and whisper a humble "yes."

The activities of Tex Rickard in pushing forward plans for a heavyweight championship fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney in spite of the commission's insistence that Harry Wills comes first and the threat of the New York promoter to stage the match in Chicago has placed the commission in a tight place. Something must be done or said that will not draw a laugh from the public and the cheer of "razzberries from the dukes" from the principals.

Up to this time the commission had a hole to crawl into. Rickard the commissioners said, does not admit he had been dealing with Dempsey and Tunney, an act that would subject him to discipline. But Rickard certainly has confessed that crime now and the commission will have to take action.

The commission will be asked some questions:

"What are you going to do to Dempsey if anything?"

"Where will the commission hold the fight?" and others.

The commission may feel like many others that Rickard has used the Chicago club merely as a threat, and may decide to call a bluff with him. But Rickard is known to be a hard customer to talk out of a good thing.

Recent developments in the situation have put more than the pride of the commission at stake. If the commission rates its pride as being more important than dollars, it can force Rickard to go out of the state with the match he is stubbornly insisting upon making.

Rickard's friends believe he has not abandoned hope of being able to stage the match in New York and that he has reasons to believe the commission can find a way of backing down gracefully.

One method suggested would be to force Dempsey and Tunney to sign an agreement that the winner would meet Wills. But this would be of little benefit to Wills as Rickard insists he will never lend a hand or a cent to the promotion of a mixed heavyweight championship fight.

Another way out would have been to buy off Wills to withdraw his challenge, but this method already has failed. Some said Wills demanded too many provisions, too much money and others said that the commission let him know that he could not withdraw his challenge after the members had made themselves foolish for two years fighting his case.

DEFINITE DECISION ON SITE EXPECTED TODAY

Chicago, July 20.—Definite decision of the site of the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney heavyweight championship battle is expected from Tex Rickard today. Local influence led by Doc Krone, Chicago promoter, deadlocked the conference here yesterday, when Krone declared that Rickard's interest in Chicago as the scene of the encounter was designed to draw overtures from the New York boxing commission, which favors a Dempsey-Wills engagement.

Rickard denied the implication that he was sparring with the New York group, however, and declared that Chicago, under the new law, would be the fight capital of the nation.

"This town is fight crazy," said Rickard.

Holding that Gene Tunney is the original white challenger, Rickard indicated at the conclusion of yesterday's conference that he would favor Chicago for the fight and continue to oppose pressure from New York for a preliminary battle with Wills.

Rickard was confident today that the Dempsey-Tunney bout could be arranged within two months. He said he was ready to desert New York permanently for the Chicago field.

Watching the Scoreboard

The Yankees helped themselves to eight runs in the first inning yesterday, disposed of two pitchers and hung up a victory over the Browns, 11 to 2.

The Giants dropped another to the hard hitting Cubs yesterday, making it two straight. Fitzsimmons, Scott and Ring were easy for the victors, who bunched 16 hits.

The Pirates trounced the lowly Braves 10-4 to keep up with the winning Reds. Genewich and Mogridge gave the Pirates hits at opportune times.

The Athletics lost the second straight game to the Tigers when Quinn blew up in the eighth. He gave four hits, and an error enabled the Tigers to get in the winning runs. The score was 8 to 3.

Fred Marberry, stellar relief pitcher, starting his second game of the season for the Senators, pitched a brilliant game, allowing but three hits. The Senators won from the Indians, 4 to 2.

Mostil's first hit of the series against the Red Sox was a deciding factor for the White Sox in the ninth inning. His single drove in Schalk for the 5 to 4 victory.

The Phillies spiked the Cardinals' guns in the 10th inning, 4 to 3. The count was tied in the ninth and the winning run was brought home by means of a sacrifice.

150 GOLFERS FACE SCORCHING DAY AT WHITE BEAR

WESTERN AMATEUR TOURNAMENT STARTS SECOND 18 HOLES

JOHNSTON'S CARD FOR FIRST 18 HOLES WAS 68, BEING 4 UNDER PAR

White Bear Yacht Club, White Bear, Minn., July 20.—(UP)—With another scorching day ahead of them the 150 golfers in the Western Amateur tournament here started the second 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round today.

One of the favorites, Jimmy Johnston, of St. Paul, was leading the field. His brand of golf justified the belief of followers that his knowledge of the White Bear course would stand him in good stead. His card for the first 18 holes was 68, four under par.

One stroke behind Johnston was Jack Westland, of Portland, the young collegian, who played a remarkable game to get a 69 for the first eighteen.

James C. "Jimmy" Ward, of Kansas City, who started out poorly with a 6 and 5 for his first two holes, settled down in earnest to play under par golf and had a card of 71. Ward gave promise of being a dark horse of the first magnitude.

Down along the line, most of the leaders were favorites and had been expected to qualify. "Chick" Evans of Chicago, however, had a 78 and needed to equal that to be among the first 32.

Dexter Cummings, of Chicago, the Windy City amateur title holder, and Al Tverra, Minneapolis district champion, were tied for fourth with 73's, one over par.

Johnston had a 33 on his first nine holes and needed to play par golf to tie Westland, but he took the lead with his last stroke, which holed a 20-foot putt for a birdie three on the eighteenth green, beating the coast collegian by one stroke.

Westland also went out in 33, playing a consistent game and laying his approaches with exactness. Deuces on the third and sixth holes and a birdie on the ninth helped his score and he came back in par, 36.

Ward's difficulty on his first two holes held him back and gave him a 38 for the outgoing nine, but he settled down to a spectacular game and came in 33.

Scores of the leaders follow:

Harrison Johnston, White Bear, 33-35-68.
Jack Westland, Portland, Ore., 33-36-69.
James C. Ward, Kansas City, 38-33-71.
Arthur Tverra, Minneapolis, 35-38-73.
Dexter Cummings, Chicago, 39-34-73.
J. M. Pollard, Omaha, 37-37-74.
Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, Ore., 39-35-74.
Robert McKee, Des Moines, 37-37-74.
Ben Stein, Seattle, 35-39-74.
Densmore Shute, Huntington, W. Va., 37-38-75.
Rudy Knepper, Chicago, 37-38-75.
M. W. Bards, Kansas City, 37-38-75.
L. B. Maytag, Wauconda, 36-39-75.

White Bear Yacht Club, White Bear, Minn., July 20.—James C. Ward, of Kansas City, led the early finishers of the third nine holes of the 36-hole qualifying round of the Western Amateur Golf tournament here today.

Ward went out in 38, which, with his 71, in the first 18 holes yesterday, gave him a score of 109. He will have to shoot par golf or better in order to be near the top at the end of the qualifying round today, however. Yesterday he overcame a similar handicap.

Among the low scores were:

James C. Ward, Kansas City, 38-33-71.
Ben Stein, Seattle, 35-39-74.
Eddie Held, St. Louis, 37-40-76.
Chuck Hunter, Tacoma, 36-41-76.
Frank Dolp, Portland, Oregon, 40-37-77.
Len C. Fone, Milwaukee, 40-39-79.
L. R. Fowler, Alexandria, 38-40-78.

Most of the early scores were high. The players shot under a blistering sun in a temperature that ranged around the nineties.

The remaining nine holes of the qualifying round will be played this afternoon.

He Was Ordered to Pick Up Coach Yost

There is a man who thought Rex Beach was a summer resort and the Kentucky derby a hat; and there is the railroad conductor who thought Fielding H. Yost, athletic director of the University of Michigan, was a railroad coach.

Coach Yost was at a way station recently, but had arranged that the fast train should stop and pick him up. The train order to the conductor said to stop and "pick up Coach Yost."

When the train stopped the conductor swung down and walked back to couple "Coach Yost" to the train. It took Yost, one of the best-known men in Michigan, some time to convince the conductor that he was the coach referred to.

FARRELL COACHED BY BEST TUTORS

Played Under Walsh, Bridwell and Larry Doyle.

If Edward Farrell isn't a finished ball player this season then baseball coaching is a false alarm. Not only did he have three years of shortstoping at the University of Pennsylvania, but he has had the best tutoring the game affords outside the classic precincts.

He passed one semester with Ed Walsh, former White Sox pitcher; he passed another under Al Bridwell, who did some shortstoping himself, and a third with Larry Doyle, famed Giant second sacker, for the Giants. Not of the least importance were two terms with Hughie Jennings and John McGraw. As a preparatory student of our national game, Ed takes all the medals.

It was back in 1921 when, just out of high school, Ed Walsh, then conducting a semi-pro team at Oneonta, N. Y., picked up the youngster. He went back to Oneonta the next year when Bridwell had the team. That accounted for his activities up to the spring of 1923, when he signed an agreement with the Giants to join the team as soon as he had graduated from college.

Ed was getting to be the fittest infielder that the University of Pennsylvania had produced and John McGraw stayed awake nights in fear that he might lose him; so to be certain of him he was invited to join the Metropolitan outfit the latter half of the 1924 season just as a "guest" of the club. He made one road trip with the team before he had to return to his studies in college.

He graduated from the dental department of the university last June and besides his "S. S." he can also tack "D. D. S." to his name.

RESIGNS AS HEAD OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

Alderman Martin Anderson Turns in His Resignation to the City Council Last Night

COUNCIL ACCEPTS THE SAME
President W. J. Lyonais Announces He Will Appoint Successor by Next Meeting of Council

Alderman Martin Anderson last night turned in his resignation to the city council as chairman of the finance committee and on motion of Aldermen Paine and Quamstrom, the resignation was accepted.

President Lyonais announced that he would appoint another chairman of the finance committee by the next sitting of the council.

Alderman Anderson's reasons for turning in his resignation were right to the point.

"I have been chairman of the finance committee for the past year now, I think somebody else should have a turn at it," said Alderman Anderson. "I have been laughed at, scoffed at, and even received threatening letters that I would be tarred and feathered. I tried to do what I could for the past year and I have taken it with a smile. If I showed you a letter I received from a lady voter in the second ward you would realize the situation."

"No letters like that ever came from the city council," replied Alderman Quamstrom, "any fighting that has been done in the council rooms should by this time be over. When the new council first sat, I did not get along very well with the police committee. Martin Anderson made it plain to me that I should stick on the committee and I feel now that he should stick to his committee."

President Lyonais will likely announce at the next meeting also on what committee Martin Anderson will sit on.

Zierke Case to Supreme Court
City Attorney D. H. Fullerton was instructed to appeal the case of Roy N. Zierke vs. Mrs. E. T. Fleener et al to the Supreme Court. The case was tried by Judge C. W. Stanton in district court on June 21, a decision being rendered in favor of Zierke, allowing him his salary.

When put to the vote, the following voted in favor of taking the case to the Supreme Court: Aldermen C. Elvig, W. J. Lyonais, Ray H. Paine, E. Ritari, Andrew Wesley, V. E. Quamstrom. The following opposed it: Aldermen Martin Anderson, C. G. Holmstrom, W. E. Lewis.

A delegation headed by Manager Whiting, of the N. P. ball team was on hand to ask the council what could be done in regard to license for the Blue Ribbon shows to be put on here under the auspices of the N. P. baseball team. After a lengthy discussion the matter was referred to the Police Committee, Mayor, and the City Attorney.

City Library Claim
A bill of $25 was presented by the Library board for use of the building as a polling place and also damages, they claimed, resulted to the building by its use as a polling place. The matter was left in the hands of the city engineer to place an estimate on the damage.

The City Property Committee were instructed to investigate the cost of redecorating the Commercial College rooms in the city hall and to bring back a report.

The announcement was made that there were no funds available at the present time towards the erection of a lighted entrance to Brainerd.

The complaint that the anchor post on 15th and Oak streets was unsafe, was referred to the city engineer with power to act.

The city clerk was instructed to call for bids for 120 tons of coal, the coal to be the same as that used last year.

On motion of Aldermen Ritari and Wesley, the police department was instructed to place "No Parking" signs on Laurel street on the south side, 150 feet east of Sixth street, as long as the material for the construction of the Elks building is stored on the street.

The matter of raising the chimney on the city hall was left in the hands of the city engineer and the city property committee to bring in a report.

The complaint that water gathers on the street at the catch basin on the corner of 8th and Kingwood streets during rains was referred to the city engineer with power to act.

A resolution was passed asking the Water and Light Board and the Telephone company to remove the old posts on Norwood street.

The city clerk was instructed to place a notice in the Brainerd Dispatch asking the people to trim trees in front of their places of residence where lights are installed to allow better lighting.

The Fire, Light and Water committee reported that material for mushroom lights had been ordered in by the street committee and that current for the semaphore lights was being furnished at 4 cents, and that no charge for mushroom lights had been made.

The property committee requested further time in which to dispose of the mixer and old bell metal and recommended that a 40 gallon tank and gas heater be installed in the fire hall for $25. The recommendation was accepted and the committee was given power to act.

NORTH LONG LAKE NEWS

Because you haven't read about us is no sign we haven't been doing things. That's just the reason you haven't heard from us. We are almost stealing time this week to tell you so.

Our Farm Women's Improvement club and our Sunshine club were no slackers on "Achievement Day." Their posters, their exhibits, their appearances on the program, and their neat ribbon badges all showed that they were "all wool and a yard wide!" The Daughters of the Soil were also in evidence handing out ice cream and pop to the hungry, thirsty picnicers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liffick and little daughter, Adelaide Rosalie, of Tacoma, Wash., have been visiting their relatives and friends in the neighborhood. Mrs. Liffick, who was Eva Thompson, says it seems very homelike in Tacoma with representatives from three of our original North Long Lake families living there. Mrs. Shendle nee Lillie Myers, and "Ed" Hughey, each live with their families near to the Lifficks. Then in Seattle, Olympia, and other places near are Camerons, the English girls and others well known to many of us. Mr. and Mrs. Liffick expect to return to Tacoma on Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Wm. Johnston had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. John Gibb one day last week.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Seavert Paulson for her recent bereavement in the death of her mother.

The fragrance of the new mown hay is what the breezes are bringing us now.

Miss Ellen Dillan attended the conference for Presbyterian young people at Paynesville last week.

Rev. Harold Damon of the First Baptist church of Brainerd held a preaching service in the school house on Sunday afternoon which was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Damon plans to come out again on Friday evening, July 30, to assist the young people with a song service. The young folks are requested to bring lunch and prepare to have a social hour after the service. We will meet at the school house. All are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Skaug Took Southern Route to Grand Canyon

VISIT AT LOS ANGELES

Met Dr. Joseph Nicholson There—in San Diego Visited Aviators Training School

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Skaug who left Brainerd June 15 returned Sunday night from an extended Western tour. They took the Southern route, first stopping at the Grand Canyon. Here Mr. Skaug met a Jap student who had graduated from the Tokio university in Japan, University of Minnesota, and had travelled over the entire world. In the opinion of the world traveller and Skaugs, the Grand Canyon was the most glorious sight either had ever seen. One can look down the sides of the canyon for a mile to where the Colorado river, thirty feet wide, is but a mere string like stream, flowing along in the depths of the gorge. It took a group of tourists an entire day to make the perilous descent and ascent on the ever trustworthy pack mules. The vapor from the intense heat changes the coloring, continually, on the formations of rock, creating a scene, indescribable and breathtaking in its beauty.

The next visit was made at Los Angeles where they visited Dr. Jos. Nicholson. The doctor has an office in an exclusive residential portion of the city and has a very lucrative practice.

In San Diego they visited the U. S. Aviators Training school where a half dozen aeroplanes are flying about at all times.

The next visit was made in Tia Juana in old Mexico where one solid block was lined knee deep with men women and children, where liquor was continually dispensed, drinking and dancing was the main order of the day and where gambling devices of every description were in use. Mr. and Mrs. Skaug visited the city in the morning when the Mexican's day had not started but were thoroughly disgusted with the city, even in its quietude. The city is near the border but the U. S. Government has no jurisdiction over the place and according to Mr. Skaug the sights were exactly opposite to the inspiring ones before viewed.

In Los Angeles they were in the glass bottomed boat which enable spectators to view the bottom of the ocean at that point.

Woodburn, Ore., near Salem proved to be the hottest city in their travels the temperature being 107 in the shade.

After visiting relatives in other cities along the route they took a boat to British Columbia, coming back via the Canadian Pacific. Mr. Skaug is glad to be back in Brainerd and says that he never felt better in his life.

RESIGNS AS HEAD OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

Alderman Martin Anderson Turns in His Resignation to the City Council Last Night

COUNCIL ACCEPTS THE SAME

President W. J. Lyonais Announces He Will Appoint Successor by Next Meeting of Council

Alderman Martin Anderson last night turned in his resignation to the city council as chairman of the finance committee and on motion of Aldermen Paine and Quanstrom, the resignation was accepted.

President Lyonais announced that he would appoint another chairman of the finance committee by the next sitting of the council.

Alderman Anderson's reasons for turning in his resignation were right to the point.

"I have been chairman of the finance committee for the past year now, I think somebody else should have a turn at it," said Alderman Anderson, "I have been laughed at, scoffed at, and even received threatening letters that I would be tarred and feathered. I tried to do what I could for the past year and I have taken it with a smile. If I showed you a letter I received from a lady voter in the second ward you would realize the situation."

"No letters like that ever came from the city council," replied Alderman Quanstrom, "any fighting that has been done in the council rooms should by this time be over. When the new council first sat, I did not get along very well with the police committee. Martin Anderson made it plain to me that I should stick on the committee and I feel now that he should stick to his committee."

President Lyonais will likely announce at the next meeting also on what committee Martin Anderson will sit on.

Zierke Case to Supreme Court
City Attorney D. H. Fullerton was instructed to appeal the case of Roy N. Zierke vs. Mrs. E. T. Fleener et al to the Supreme Court. The case was tried by Judge C. W. Stanton in district court on June 21, a decision being rendered in favor of Zierke, allowing him his salary.

When put to the vote, the following voted in favor of taking the case to the Supreme Court: Aldermen C. Elvig, W. J. Lyonais, Ray H. Paine, E. Ritari, Andrew Wesley, V. E. Quanstrom. The following opposed it: Aldermen Martin Anderson, C. G. Holmstrom, W. E. Lewis.

A delegation headed by Manager Whiting, of the N. P. hall team was on hand to ask the council what could be done in regard to license for the Blue Ribbon shows to be put on here under the auspices of the N. P. baseball team. After a lengthy discussion the matter was referred to the Police Committee, Mayor, and the City Attorney.

City Library Claim
A bill of $25 was presented by the Library board for use of the building as a polling place and also damages, they claimed, resulted to the building by its use as a polling place. The matter was left in the hands of the city engineer to place an estimate on the damage.

The City Property Committee were instructed to investigate the cost of redecorating the Commercial College rooms in the city hall and to bring back a report.

The announcement was made that there were no funds available at the present time towards the erection of a lighted entrance to Brainerd.

The complaint that the anchor post on 15th and Oak streets was unsafe, was referred to the city engineer with power to act.

The city clerk was instructed to call for bids for 120 tons of coal, the coal to be the same as that used last year.

On motion of Aldermen Ritari and Wesley, the police department was instructed to place "No Parking" signs on Laurel street on the south side, 150 feet east of Sixth street, as long as the material for the construction of the Elks building is stored on the street.

The matter of raising the chimney on the city hall was left in the hands of the city engineer and the city property committee to bring in a report.

The complaint that water gathers on the street at the catch basin on the corner of 8th and Kingwood streets during rains was referred to the city engineer with power to act.

A resolution was passed asking the Water and Light Board and the Telephone company to remove the old posts on Norwood street.

The city clerk was instructed to place a notice in the Brainerd Dispatch asking the people to trim trees in front of their places of residence where lights are installed to allow better lighting.

The Fire, Light and Water committee reported that material for mushroom lights had been ordered in by the street committee and that current for the semaphore lights was being furnished at 4 cents, and that no charge for mushroom lights had been made.

The property committee requested further time in which to dispose of the mixer and old bell metal and recommended that a 40 gallon tank and gas heater be installed in the fire hall for $25. The recommendation was accepted and the committee was given power to act.

NORTH LONG LAKE NEWS

Because you haven't read about us is no sign we haven't been doing things. That's just the reason you haven't heard from us. We are almost stealing time this week to tell you so.

Our Farm Women's Improvement club and our Sunshine club were no slackers on "Achievement Day." Their posters, their exhibits, their appearances on the program, and their neat ribbon badges all showed that they were "all wool and a yard wide!" The Daughters of the Soil were also in evidence handing out ice cream and pop to the hungry, thirsty picnicers.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Liffick and little daughter, Adelaide Rosalie, of Tacoma, Wash., have been visiting their relatives and friends in the neighborhood. Mrs. Liffick, who was Eva Thompson, says it seems very homelike in Tacoma with representatives from three of our original North Long Lake families living there. Mrs. Shendle nee Lillie Myers, and "Ed" Hughey, each live with their families near to the Lifficks. Then in Seattle, Olympia, and other places near are Camerons, the Engsh girls and others well known to many of us. Mr. and Mrs. Liffick expect to return to Tacoma on Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Wm. Johnston had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. John Gibb one day last week.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Seavert Paulson for her recent bereavement in the death of her mother.

The fragrance of the new mown hay is what the breezes are bringing us now.

Miss Ellen Dillan attended the conference for Presbyterian young people at Paynesville last week.

Rev. Harold Damon of the First Baptist church of Brainerd held a preaching service in the school house on Sunday afternoon which was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Damon plans to come out again on Friday evening, July 30, to assist the young people with a song service. The young folks are requested to bring lunch and prepare to have a social hour after the service. We will meet at the school house. All are welcome. COUNTRY COUSIN.

Marriage Rites That

Are Old as Humanity

The girl who today trends the aisle to the tune of the wedding march is still the victim of certain marriage rites so old that the idea originally underlying them has been forgotten. Her wedding veil, for instance, is a relic of the canopy that used to be held over the bride to seclude her from profane gaze. The ancient Romans attached great importance to the custom of veiling the bride. Its primary object was to protect her against the evil eye, a superstition current among many tribes and nations.

With some people the veiling was required because the bride's own glance was considered to be dangerous. Misfortune would surely befall any person or animal the bride looked at before she had seen her husband on her arrival at his house.

From the early Romans is handed down the custom, not infrequently observed by an American bride of today, of being married in a previously worn marriage veil. Great luck is supposed to attend the practice, especially if the former wearer had been happy in the married state.—Eileen Bourne, in Liberty Magazine.

"Information" Tired of Old Man's Stale Joke

The new sales clerk who was "learning all about the store" had been placed by her section manager next to an information booth with instructions to "stay there and hear the questions customers ask."

They ranged all the way from the sensible to the insane.

The prize query came from a little elderly gentleman with a white beard.

"What floor's the basement on, eh?"

The new sales clerk stared. He didn't seem to be kidding; anyhow, one could never tell, and it was best to abide by the rule: The customer is always right even if occasionally crazy. So she said, "Over there," pointing to the stairs.

The little man walked away muttering, "What floor's the basement on, ha, ha." Then the information clerk, who had ignored all this, turned and said: "Didn't see I didn't notice him? He comes around every month or so and asks that pet joke of his. Asked me the first time I was here; he always picks a new girl to spring it on."—New York Sun.

Wrestling Bouts in Japan

Every year the Japanese wrestling championship is decided at the Kokugikan in Tokyo, says the Pathfinder Magazine. Here the wrestlers from the east and west of Japan struggle for supremacy. The championship bouts, which are always picturesque, sometimes last for ten days or more. The matches begin early in the morning and last until late at night. Each wrestler has a stage name, like our actors. In fact, they are the heroes of the Japanese flappers, some of them being as popular as matinee idols in this country.

The wrestlers all use the "catch-as-catch-can" method. Each match continues until one man is thrown. The man who wins the championship becomes a popular national hero.

Common Phrase Explained

The origin of the phrase, "mind your P's and Q's," is not too explicit, but is supposed to have arisen in the reign of Louis XIV of France, when wigs of unwieldy size were worn and bows were made with great formality, says London Tit-Bits. To do the salaaming properly, two things were specially required: a "step" with the foot and a low bend of the body. It was an easy thing for the wig to become deranged by a clumsy bow—even fall off. To caution against this the French dancing master would say: "Mind your P's (pieds, feet) and Q's (queues, wigs)."

Snake Hunts Horseman

A youth on horseback rounding up cattle on the veld near Potchefstroom, South Africa, was confronted by a huge yellow snake, which reared up hissing in front of the horse.

He spurred his horse away, but the snake, moving with great rapidity, with the front portion of its body erect, closely followed for some distance, until it was finally shaken off.

This story is well vouched for. It interests naturalists and hunters, whose stories of people being chased by snakes are sometimes discredited.

The Hero

As a tall, athletic-looking young man entered the theater the whole audience rose and applauded.

"A popular hero?" asked a stranger of his neighbor.

"Yes," was the reply. "He distinguished himself when the circus was here."

"In what way?"

"A lion escaped, and when everybody was yelling and trying to get away, he walked quietly to the lion's cage and shut himself inside."

The Secret

Nicola Tesla, at a dinner in New York, had explained one of his numerous inventions.

"You see how simple it is," he ended, "once it's explained. It's like the old minister's explanation of his long pastorate or forty years."

"You see," he said, "when I'd get mad and want to go, they wouldn't let me; and when they got mad and wanted me to go, I wouldn't go. We both never got mad at the same time."

HEAVY STOCK SALES TODAY

New York, July 20.—(UP)—After climbing to within striking distance of the February high industrial shares ran into a flood of profit taking today. The volume of sales was added to by heavy selling by the bear crowd which has been looking with disfavor at the recent increasing gain and biding its time until the opportunity was afforded to bring about a set back.

When General Motors and steel gave indications in the morning trade of having reached a halting point in their upward march of the last several weeks, professional operators launched a vigorous drive on the whole market. This attack forced prices down to levels, where stop loss orders were caught in large numbers, adding momentum to the decline.

The market closed uneven.

Early Wall Paper

Skins of animals were the forerunner of the existing wall paper in England and were later succeeded by tapestries and painted cloths. The first patent for the manufacture of wall paper in England was taken out in 1692. It was soon the custom for an American bridegroom to give his bride a set of English wall papers as a wedding gift.

Working Our Literature

Who says this generation isn't thorough? First, we read a story in the magazine, then we read it in book form, then we seek it in the movies, then somebody comes around lecturing about it.—Butte Daily Post.

Made Electrical Measure

The watt was adopted as the electrical measure by act of congress, approved July 12, 1894, defining the legal units of electrical measure in the United States, following recommendations of the Chicago International electrical congress in 1893.

Novelist's Climb to Fame

Shakespeare dilated on the uses of adversity. A well-known novelist put his teaching to a practical test, for he papered his den with editorial regrets. He was then in his teens. Since then there is no record of his adding any to the design.

Peculiar Medicines

In the first pharmacopoeia, published in 1618, the preparations include crabs' eyes, pearls, snails, vi-pers, thigh bone of a hanged man, and many equally surprising remedies.

New Style

In the old-fashioned novels the hero used to turn pale and bite his lips when he was agitated. In current magazine fiction he turns red and bites the heroine's lips.—Jon Marquis in Collier's Magazine.

"Oh What Grand Relief Karnak Has Given Me"

Is So Enthusiastic Over Great Medicine Is Going To Get Her Mother and Daughter To Try It Also, Declares Minneapolis Woman.

"Why, after my first few doses of Karnak I knew I at last had the right medicine, and while I have taken only three bottles so far I already feel like an entirely different person," declares Mrs. J. A. Troppman, of 25 E. Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis.

"My case was a chronic case of stomach trouble," continues Mrs. Troppman. "I suffered with indigestion and extreme nervousness, and was in a terribly rundown condition. Why, I was so nervous I just shook like a leaf, and at night it was almost impossible for me to get any rest."

"For eight years I suffered like this and spent sums of money trying to get relief, but I just became so weak and worn out I could hardly do my housework. I simply felt miserable.

"But this Karnak medicine has made such a wonderful change in my condition that I am telling all my friends about it, and I am going to have my daughter take Karnak, too, and am sending some to my mother in Wisconsin.

"Why, I had no appetite at all before I got Karnak, but now I'm eating hearty at every meal, and gas that used to form on my stomach and make me terribly sick has disappeared now. Oh, what grand relief it is. I can sleep and rest at night, and am gaining strength every day. I just can't praise Karnak enough for all it's done for me."

Karnak is sold in Brainerd by all good drug stores, and by leading druggists in every town. —Advt.

Marriage Rites That Are Old as Humanity

The girl who today treads the aisle to the tune of the wedding march is still the victim of certain marriage rites so old that the idea originally underlying them has been forgotten. Her wedding veil, for instance, is a relic of the canopy that used to be held over the bride to seclude her from profane gaze. The ancient Romans attached great importance to the custom of veiling the bride. Its primary object was to protect her against the evil eye, a superstition current among many tribes and nations.

With some people the veiling was required because the bride's own glance was considered to be dangerous. Misfortune would surely befall any person or animal the bride looked at before she had seen her husband on her arrival at his house.

"Information" Tired of Old Man's Stale Joke

The new sales clerk who was "learning all about the store" had been placed by her section manager next to an information booth with instructions to "stay there and hear the questions customers ask."

They ranged all the way from the sensible to the insane. The prize query came from a little elderly gentleman with a white beard. "What floor's the basement on, eh?"

The new sales clerk stared. He didn't seem to be kidding; anyhow, one could never tell, and it was best to abide by the rule: The customer is always right even if occasionally crazy. So she said, "Over there," pointing to the stairs.

The little man walked away muttering, "What floor's the basement on, ha, ha." Then the information clerk, who had ignored all this, turned and said: "Didya see I didn't notice him? He comes around every month or so and asks that pet joke of his. Asked me the first time I was here; he always picks a new girl to spring it on."

HEAVY STOCK SALES TODAY

New York, July 20.—(UP)—After climbing to within striking distance of the February high industrial shares ran into a flood of profit taking today. The volume of sales was added to by heavy selling by the bear crowd which have been looking with disfavor at the recent increasing gain and biding its time until the opportunity was afforded to bring about a set back.

When General Motors and steel gave indications in the morning trade of having reached a halting point in their upward march of the last several weeks, professional operators launched a vigorous drive on the whole market. This attack forced prices down to levels, where stop loss orders were caught in large numbers, adding momentum to the decline.

The market closed uneven.

Early Wall Paper

Skins of animals were the forerunner of the existing wall paper in England and were later succeeded by tapestries and painted cloths. The first patent for the manufacture of wall paper in England was taken out in 1692. It was soon the custom for an American bridegroom to give his bride a set of English wall papers as a wedding gift.

Working Our Literature

Who says this generation isn't thorough? First, we read a story in the magazine, then we read it in book form, then we seek it in the movies, then somebody comes around lecturing about it.—Butte Daily Post.

Made Electrical Measure

The watt was adopted as the electrical measure by act of congress, approved July 12, 1894, defining the legal units of electrical measure in the United States, following recommendations of the Chicago International electrical congress in 1893.

Peculiar Medicines

In the first pharmacopoeia, published in 1618, the preparations include crabs' eyes, pearls, snails, vipers, thigh bone of a hanged man, and many equally surprising remedies.

New Style

In the old-fashioned novels the hero used to turn pale and bite his lips when he was agitated. In current magazine fiction he turns red and bites the heroine's lips.—Don Marquis in Collier's Magazine.

Novelist's Climb to Fame

Shakespeare dilated on the uses of adversity. A well-known novelist put his teaching to a practical test, for he papered his den with editorial regrets. He was then in his teens. Since then there is no record of his adding any to the design.

"Oh What Grand Relief Karnak Has Given Me"

Is So Enthusiastic Over Great Medicine Is Going To Get Her Mother and Daughter To Try It Also, Declares Minneapolis Woman.

"Why, after my first few doses of Karnak I knew I at last had the right medicine, and while I have taken only three bottles so far I already feel like an entirely different person," declares Mrs. J. A. Troppman, of 25 E. Hennepin Ave., Minneapolis. "My case was a chronic case of stomach trouble," continues Mrs. Troppman. "I suffered with indigestion and extreme nervousness, and was in a terribly rundown condition. Why, I was so nervous I just shook like a leaf, and at night it was almost impossible for me to get any rest."

"For eight years I suffered like this and spent sums of money trying to get relief, but I just became so weak and worn out I could hardly do my housework. I simply felt miserable.

"But this Karnak medicine has made such a wonderful change in my condition that I am telling all my friends about it, and I am going to have my daughter take Karnak, too, and am sending some to my mother in Wisconsin.

"Why, I had no appetite at all before I got Karnak, but now I'm eating hearty at every meal, and gas that used to form on my stomach and make me terribly sick has disappeared now. Oh, what grand relief it is. I can sleep and rest at night, and am gaining strength every day. I just can't praise Karnak enough for all it's done for me."

Karnak is sold in Brainerd by all good drug stores, and by leading druggists in every town. —Adv.
